VOL. 121, No. 171  VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, JULY 22, 1954—24 PAGES PRICE: 7 CENTS SATURDAY, 10 CENTS

Florence Chadwick's Day

Hi!

The holiday, a whole week of it, ended abruptly today.

After a week out of the water, I got back into the training routine today and it felt wonderful. I swam around Cadboro Bay, with Archie McKinnon and Jack Todd in the coaching boat, for an hour and a half.

But, as glad as I was to get back to my swimming, I certainly enjoyed my week-long holiday. I saw a lot more of Victoria and met dozens of people. More and more, I am becoming convinced that Victoria is one of the garden spots of the world.

One of the most enjoyable parts of my entire stay in Victoria was a visit to the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Pendray last Sunday. Mom Chadwick and I had dinner with the Carl Pendray family first and I had my introduction to Devonshire cream. Mr. Pendray buttered huge slices of bread for me, and covered them with strawberry preserves and Devonshire cream.

After dinner, we visited the home of Herb Pendrays and I have never seen a home with such beautiful grounds. The whole estate looks like something out of Alice in Wonderland with birds all over the place and little stone gnomes and elves in the garden and trees. The house is full of souvenirs from all over the world and I was fascinated by the collection of animal skins and sea-shells.

On Tuesday night, Archie and Dottie McKinnon and I drove along the waterfront, looking for possible take-off sites. Of course the final decision will be made by my navigator, Frank Seehorn.

I took my Oldsmobile into Wilson Motors and had it washed and while I was there, I met a lot of the staff. Being a fiend for flashy cars, I had a wonderful talk with the mechanics and salesmen. They sure know their business.

The Chadwick pantry has been bulging with gifts and I would like to thank Andy Roubillard for the delicious smoked salmon and the Goldstream Strawberry Farm for the juicy berries they sent us.

Canadian Beauty Favored

SOME (GASP) MOUNTIE!

Miss Redcoat Invited To Pick Her Own Man

LONG BEACH, Calif. (CP) —Miss Canada may or may not win the Miss Universe beauty contest title, but she is regarded as champion when it comes to filling out what in tolerant Southern California is regarded as a "national dress."

While other foreign beauties have appeared in such outlandish garb as a New Zealand Maori costume, 20-year-old Joyce Landry of Toronto has put the most showmanship into her outfit.

Shapely Joyce has worn a brief red coat patterned after the tunic of the Canadian Mounties, and — blithely unaware of the shudders it will cause at RCMP headquarters in Ottawa — rounded out the outfit with a pair of long black silk stockings.

The get-up won hands down for cheese cake.

For the second straight night Wednesday night her costume brought out more wolf whistles than any other at the contest. One sailor brought down the house when he shouted: "Hey, Mountie, I'm your man—come and get me."

Joyce, a smiling beauty, is rated among favorites to win the Miss Universe crown. The finals are scheduled for Friday night. She'll compete against Miss South Carolina, who Wednesday night won the United States eliminations, and a host of beauties from all over the world.

Canada Ready to Act On Truce Commission

Posse Hunts Deadly Snake In Vancouver

3½-Foot Rattler Seen By Housewife

VANCOUVER (CP)—Search was resumed early today for a 3½-foot diamond-backed rattlesnake which was seen in Vancouver's West End district Wednesday evening.

A posse of nearly 100 police, firemen and private citizens was forced to postpone the search for the poisonous reptile Wednesday night by darkness.

The big green-tinged snake with a black diamond pattern on its back was first spotted by a West End housewife when she investigated a noise near some garbage cans at the rear of her apartment.

FOUND TRAIL

Mrs. A. Milne told police she saw the big snake slithering between the cans, "waving its tail and making a rattling sound." Investigating officers Doug Barclay and Bill Reid said they found the snake's trail, which ended at a concrete walk.

A few minutes earlier, two passers-by reported seeing the snake.

Indo-China Truce Line

Division of Viet Nam as agreed upon with the signing of the Indo-China peace agreement at Geneva is shown in the above map. France has agreed to surrender to the Reds all territory above the 17th parallel, embracing key cities of Hanoi and Haiphong. French are now faced with evacuation of thousands of civilians and troops.

Seeks Assurances Against Use of Veto

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada will accept membership on the Indo-China armistice commission if it gets reasonable assurance that the commission can be made to work effectively, External Affairs Minister Pearson said today.

"A final decision cannot be taken until we get the information requested," he told a press conference following a cabinet meeting which discussed an invitation that Canada serve on the commission.

"If that information and the terms of reference and procedure and details are all such as to give us reasonable assurance that the commission can operate effectively and do the job it is set up to do, I think the government will accept it."

The invitation for Canada to serve on the truce body with India and Poland was received Wednesday night from British Foreign Secretary Eden and Russian Foreign Minister Molotov, co-chairmen of the Geneva conference.

However, the invitation did not contain details on the commission such as its terms of reference and what exactly it will be expected to do.

Until these details are received, there can be no final decision by the Canadian government, Mr. Pearson said. They are expected in a day or two and the cabinet probably will make its final decision next week.

Enforcement Not Involved

The minister said he assumes that the commission's work will not involve enforcement of the armistice terms.

If the commission had to decide all questions by unanimous decision, then there was not much likelihood of the commission operating effectively, he said.

In short, Canada might turn down the request to serve on the commission if Communist Poland could veto majority decisions by India and Canada.

If Canada took on the job, it would probably last at least two years.

Mr. Pearson said he does not know whether the commission staff will be military or civilian or how many persons will be involved. He said he would guess that there might be between 100 and 200 representatives from each of the three supervisory powers.

He said he hopes that if Canada accepts membership, it will be considered in the U.S. that Canadian intentions are good and worthy and that Canada will act in an objective and effective way.

If Canada turns down membership, Mr. Pearson said he assumes the foreign ministers of countries represented at Geneva will ask some other country to serve.

Canadian participation would not affect Canada's relations with any Southeast Asia pact one way or the other. It would also remove any lingering impression that Canada is not concerned with what happens in Indo-China, Mr. Pearson said.

Canada has said that under present circumstances it cannot join any Southeast Asia defense alliance because its commitments abroad are already heavy.

WIRE BRIEFS

Blast Kills Three

CRANBURY, N.J. (AP)—State police said at least three persons were killed and three seriously injured in an explosion and fire at the Unexcelled Chemical Co. fireworks plant today.

At least eight persons were treated at the scene.

The blast, heard two miles away and followed by a mushroom - shaped white cloud, blew up a 20-by-60-foot galvanized iron building and knocked another smaller structure off its foundation.

The victims were believed to have been working in the wrecked building.

ROK Reaction

SEOUL (Reuters) — The South Korean defense minister, Admiral Sohn Won Il, said here today the Indo-China cease-fire "gravely increased the danger of a new Communist invasion of South Korea."

He told a press conference South Korea will not sit idle waiting for the Communists to attack first. He said: "Any nation which takes the initiative is winner.'

Trio Share Golf Lead

ST. PAUL (UP)—Jovial Ed (Porky) Oliver, dentist Cary Middlecoff and Jack Burke Jr., led with five-under-par 102s today at the three-quarter mark in the 36-hole qualifying play at the 36th annual PGA golf tournament.

Closing By-Law May Be Revoked

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bert Robinson, downtown butcher who kept his two stores open Wednesday afternoon in defiance of the Wednesday closing by-law, will be summonsed under the provincial Shops Regulation Act the city inspector said here today. Twenty-nine other store owners will also be summonsed.

At the same time it was learned that the closing by-law may be repealed at a special city council meeting Monday.

Repeal of the by-law would open the door for a 5½-day week for retail stores not yet cleared for six-day operation.

Duncan Man Charged In Wife Shooting

Manslaughter Count Facing Farmer; Dead Woman Former Victorian

DUNCAN—Henry Robinson, 61-year-old Cowichan Lake Road farmer, was charged with manslaughter today by the RCMP in connection with the gunshot death Wednesday of his wife.

He was scheduled to appear before Magistrate W. H. Bryant in police court this afternoon; when, it was understood, he would be remanded to a later date.

According to reports, Robinson apparently mistook his wife for a deer while she was in their strawberry patch, and shot her with a 30-30 rifle. The strawberries grown on their farm, three miles along the Cowichan Lake Road from the Old Island Highway, were one of the couple's main sources of income.

Mrs. Robinson, 55, formerly Irene McDonald of Victoria, was well known as a school teacher in the Sahtlam district, where the farm is located.

Robinson himself reported the incident, that occurred at about 8.30 p.m. He is in police custody.

The couple had been known in the district for the last 35 or 40 years, and had been married about 25 years.

Robinson, who lived quietly, was a regular competitor in loggers' sports held here years ago. Their property is one of the pioneer farms in the district.

B.C. Awards $1,699,057 Bridge Job

Northern Construction and J. W. Stewart Ltd. today was awarded a $1,699,057 contract for construction of sub-structure and approaches of the Rosedale-Agassiz bridge across the Fraser River.

The bridge will be the first constructed by the B.C. Toll Bridge and Highway Authority. Work will start immediately.

Another contract, for steel work on the approaches, was awarded Dominion Bridge Co., for its tender price of $372,727.

The new bridge is scheduled to be in operation next year, and will replace an expensive and outmoded ferry service. It will provide a new bridge crossing in the area between Hope and Mission.

Tenders will be called at a later date for construction of the main centre span.

The Toll Authority will set tolls on the bridge, and this will be bolstered by a government annual subsidy of 2½% of the original cost. When paid for from these two sources, the toll bridge will revert to the provincial highway system.

A-Power for Industry

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Widespread use of atomic power in Canadian industry is much closer than the public realizes, A. E. Grauer, president of the B.C. Electric Co., said today.

"In about a decade Canadians may be using 1,000,000 electrical horsepower generated from atomic energy."

Fighting Stops Officially July 27

GENEVA (Reuters)—Fighting will stop officially in Indo-China July 27 when the cease-fire negotiated here goes into effect in some areas of north Viet Nam, French sources said today. Full details are still secret.

Asia Conference Agreed Upon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S., Britain and other allies have agreed to call an international conference late next month to write a defensive alliance designed to protect the non-Communist lands of Southeast Asia against Communist conquest.

Highly placed diplomatic authorities said an announcement of the meeting is expected shortly.

Pravda Says U.S. Policy Bankrupt

MOSCOW (UP)—Pravda, the communist party newspaper, said today that the Indo-China cease-fire agreement showed that American foreign policy is "bankrupt" and will lead up a blind alley to eventual isolation of the United States.

A three-column front page editorial hailed the Indo-China settlement at Geneva as a "victory consistent with the peaceful foreign policy of the Soviet Union and the Chinese People's Republic and the entire democratic camp."

Geneva was a "failure" for U.S. foreign policy, Pravda said.

"Now it is entirely clear . . . to all that in insisting on conducting a bankrupt policy 'from a position of strength' the United States may completely find itself up a blind alley and in a state of isolation," the editorial said.

Laos Invaders Begin Withdrawal

HANOI, Indo-China (UP)—Communist invaders of Laos today began withdrawing from the Indo-Chinese kingdom.

Fighting is already virtually over in Indo-China, although minor skirmishing may take place in remote districts until the Aug. 6 deadline, military sources said.

The French high command announced, meanwhile, that it would evacuate "several hundred thousand" Vietnamese from the Red River delta at French expense.

Criticisms May Keep Statue Of Queen Victoria in Ireland

Woodward Stores Ltd., may withdraw its offer to bring Dublin's statue of Queen Victoria to this city.

J. Courtney Haddock, manager of Woodward's store here, said today local reaction to the company's offer has been disappointing and so much adverse criticism made of the statue that "we feel rather cast down."

"If it's not going to be welcome, there seems little point to our bringing it," Mr. Haddock said.

Woodward's offered the statue to the city in a letter to City Council. The council jumped at the offer at a meeting July 8 and appointed a three-man committee to find a suitable place to put it.

It is understood the committee has already given thought to having the Dublin statue erected in front of the Parliament Buildings, and the present statue of the queen moved from there to Beacon Hill Park.

During the last two weeks the statue has been the subject of discussion by newspaper columnists and writers of letters to the editor. Comments have been mostly unfavorable.

"We felt Victoria would be more enthusiastic to our offer," Mr. Haddock said. "Some say the statue is ugly. Maybe it is but personally I think that would make it all the more interesting."

Mr. Haddock said it had been Woodward's intention to bring both the statue and its ornate base to this city.

"We would have brought the whole thing," he said. "We felt it would become one of the sights in Victoria from a tourist point of view."

Mr. Haddock added that Woodward officials were not annoyed at what had been said about the statue "we're just surprised."

SEA TAKES SAD TOLL OF 'FISHING SMITHS'

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Once there were five in the fishing Smith family.

Then in the early 1930s Mrs. Mary Smith's husband was drowned at the family fishing site 60 miles west of Anchorage. His body never was recovered.

The widow, with three sons to rear, continued to go annually to the fishing grounds, superintending operations during the season until the boys were able to take over.

Three years ago one of the three sons, Roland, was drowned at the same spot his father had perished. Last year another son, Byrne, was drowned on a hunting trip.

Gerard, 26, the last of the sons, carried on. Monday his dory, its bow stove in, was found at the spot where his father and brother had died. His body has not been recovered.

Now Mrs. Smith, almost blind, alone remains.

Court Hears Grisly Details Of Bear Hunter Slaying

PERCE, Que. (BUP)—Seventeen-year-old Richard Lindsay of Hollidaysburg, Pa., was shot to death and his body dismembered and chewed by the black bears of the Gaspe while his own fully-loaded rifle was locked on "safety," a provincial police officer testified today.

Capt. Raoul Sirois testified at the trial of Wilbert Coffin, charged with murdering the American youth.

While the boys mother and sister, Donna, wept, Sirois identified articles of clothing and equipment belonging to Lindsay, his father Eugene, 47, and a companion, Fred Claar, 20, of East Freedom, Pa.

Sirois identified the Lindsay boys boots which were badly chewed by bears.

"There was still the large bone of the leg in one of those boots," he said.

Washington Forecast: Hot, Windy For Days and Days and Days and...

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind., Ore.) surrendered the Senate floor today after speaking 6 hours and 13 minutes in a 25½-hour filibuster on the Atomic Energy Bill.

The debate started at 10 a.m. EDT Tuesday.

Morse frankly admitted he was making a "filibuster" speech against President Eisenhower's proposal that a private power group be given an Atomic Energy Commission contract to supply power to TVA.

Democratic and Republican senators slept in their cloakrooms on army-type cots provided by Senate GOP leader William F. Knowland (Cal.), who ordered the marathon session. Knowland, too, called it a filibuster.

Morse charged that the Atomic Energy Bill was a "$42,000,000,000,000 give-away."

He based his estimate on "the enormity of the give-away" on estimates of the power potential involved in the peaceful use of the atom.

"The give-away to private monopoly contemplated by this bill is equivalent to 16 times the assured reserves and six times the ultimately possible reserves of all the coal, oil, shale and natural gas reserves of the country put together," Morse said.

"If we take the price of $7 per ton, this give-away would ultimately stack up some astronomical figure like $42 trillion or in ordinary language $42 million-million," Morse said.

It appeared likely the Senate would drone on longer than the 29 hours used in the fight over the tidelands oil bill last year, but would fall short of the 54-hour record set in 1915.

Knowland said he would keep the chamber in continuous session until the controversial measure is passed.

AUSTRALIANS BREAK CANADIAN RECORDS

ALDERGROVE, B.C. (CP)—Australian, Canadian and Fijian athletes ran a preview of the British Empire Games here Wednesday night and it was Australia all the way.

A chilled crowd of 1,500 saw Hector Hogan of Australia equal a 32-year-old 50-yard Canadian sprint record while running across a bush-league dirt track. His time was 5.4.

Australia's Marjorie Jackson Nelson, Hogan's counterpart as the fastest woman in the world, smashed the Canadian 50-yard sprint record, timed at 5.9 seconds.

Jackie MacDonald of Toronto tossed a 42 feet, 8.75 inches Canadian shot-put record, the fifth time in the last month she has broken her old mark.

JUST for the RECORD

PLAID: In Rochester, N.Y., the suburban home of Victor W. Sparks is a standout—it's painted in plaid. He did the job himself. "I wanted something colorful and different," he says.

The interior of the house also is colorful and different, favorite recipes are painted on the kitchen walls. Frolicking goldfish decorate the bathroom walls amid sea horses and seaweed. The family crest adorns the garage door.

Sparks says he paints as a hobby. He also works professionally as a painter at Eastman Kodak Company.

New CPR 'Domes' On Show in West

Canadian Train Travel Revolutionized By $40 Millions in Ultra-Modern Coaches

A revolution in Canadian rail passenger travel—the biggest since the switch from wood to steel—has come into effect with the Canadian Pacific Railway's $40,000,000 purchase of 173 streamlined, stainless steel passenger cars from the Budd Co. of Philadelphia, the first two of which will be on view to the public at CPR depot, Vancouver, on August 5 and 6.

One of the cars is a new type of sleeping car, of which three are 71 on order. The second is a scenic dome lounge car, one of 18 of its type which has been designed to be the central attraction of the 15 gleaming new trains which will be crossing the continent when the huge order is completed next spring.

The cars are on a trans-continental tour that began at Montreal Monday. Stops will be made at all major centres for public inspection.

The new cars, now arriving at the rate of three or four a week, will be put into service on existing trains as they become available. Eventually all 15 CPR trains now running between Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver, will be re-equipped with these ultra-modern cars and hauled by the latest types of diesel-electric locomotives.

Included in the order are 18 scenic dome lounges, 18 scenic dome coaches, 30 de luxe coaches, 71 sleepers, 18 dining room cars and 18 baggage-dormitory cars.

MANY FEATURES

The scenic dome lounge cars, which provide a 24-seat upper level, also have three double bedrooms and a drawing room, along with a 12-passenger "mural lounge" section under the dome, and a 13-passenger observation lounge section behind the dome.

In the new 24-passenger and 25-passenger "sleeper" cars five different types of accommodations are provided for the passenger.

A coffee shop, providing a "dome" view of the passenger Canadian countryside, will be available at no extra fare for coach passengers.

Eighteen modern dining room cars, which will bring a level of travel comfort comparable to that found on luxury ocean liners, will cater to passengers desiring regular dining car service.

'Handicapped Unlimited' Set for TV

A movie, filmed in Victoria by Colin Fensham to document work being done by handicapped people, will be shown to a joint meeting of Victoria Chamber of Commerce and local service clubs in Empress Hotel August 6.

Finale of the 20-minute production will be filmed at the meeting and added before proposed television broadcast of "Handicapped Unlimited" is carried over Canadian and American stations.

Purpose of the movie is to familiarize businessmen with the capabilities of handicapped workers such as are employed in Victoria through assistance of the Canadian League of the Handicapped, Victoria division.

Local handicapped president, Fred Blakeney, will address the joint luncheon meeting in connection with the showing. He will explain how handicapped workers can be placed effectively in normal business operations.

Arrangements are being made to televise the film over CBUT, Vancouver; KVOS, Bellingham; and a Seattle station.

Showboat Ticket Booths Planned By Legion Women

To help boost Victoria's showboat, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, Branch, will have booths for ticket sales in T. Easton Co. Ltd. and HBC stores here for one week starting next Monday.

Ticket returns $1 each, a share in a community project, will be used to finance the showboat. Holder of the winning ticket will get an all-expense $800 trip to the Yukon. Four runner-ups will get travel awards valued at $50 each.

The ladies' auxiliary, active in assisting veterans in hospitals, is headed by Mrs. H. F. Jarvis, 1239 Vista Heights.

7 MODELS—7 BACHELORS

Chic New York Girls Find Canucks Courtly

By JOHN ELSON

NEW YORK (CP) — Take seven shy Canadian bachelors, add seven chic New York models, place in a glamorous club—and you get an interesting evening.

The seven House brothers of Port Stanley, Ont., here for the premiere of the motion picture "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," topped their sightseeing tour of New York Wednesday with a visit to a night club. They came to New York as guests of the film's producers.

The brothers got their first glimpse of Manhattan night life as they were whisked off to meet their dates, eat a lavish steak dinner and see a much-publicized floor show.

Offhand it would be hard to say which they appreciated most. The girls were stunning, but the brothers—Vern, 52, Bill, 49, George, 48, Earl, 38, Lee, 34, and Raymond, 32—didn't think they would change their non-marrying ways.

The meal was fine, but brother Earl was insistent that their three sisters, left behind to tend the 300-acre family farm, are real fine cooks, too.

The show, chorus girls, singers, comedians, went over fine. But it wasn't anything really new to the boys, who have had television on their farm for two years and have the benefits of nine channels—two more than New York has.

The models probably were the toughest obstacle. The brothers were courtly and reserved, and even consented to dance with the girls. But probably not even the charm of a New York lovely could really unfreeze the heart of a confirmed Canadian bachelor.

FUNERAL NOTICE

Members of Pro Patria Branch, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., and the Ladies' Auxiliary, are requested to attend the funeral of our late Comrade Capt. Victor A. Schade, at Sands Funeral Chapel on Friday, July 23, 1954, at 3.00 p.m.

$100,000 Damage In Edmonton Blaze

EDMONTON (BUP).—Damage was estimated at $100,000 today following a fire that destroyed an automobile body shop and injured three firemen.

The 2½-hour blaze started Wednesday in electrical equipment when an electrician was checking it. The firemen were hospitalized after a wall was knocked down by an explosion.

The main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Vancouver to Saint John, N.B., is 3,367 miles long.

Vic Meston, Native Son, Dies in Hospital at 67

Another link with historical Victoria was severed Wednesday with the death of John Victor Meston, retired businessman whose carriage-building firm originated here in 1875. He was 67.

Funeral services for the native son of Victoria will be held at 1.30 p.m. Saturday from McCall Bros.' funeral home with Rt. Rev. Dr. J. L. W. McLean officiating. Cremation will follow.

His father was one of the pioneers of coach building on the coast and brought his trade from Scotland where he was born in 1849.

Early history of the family points to France as a home seat, though the generations in Scotland go back to William Meston, born in Midmar, Aberdeen, in 1688. For years he was one of the leaders of Scottish political and religious activity as a professor of philosophy at Mareschal College, Aberdeen. He died in 1775 and in 1776 a book of his poems was published at Edinburgh.

The late Mr. Meston's father came to Canada at the age of 23 and spent two years in Toronto before coming to Victoria. "John Meston, Carriage Builder," was a well-known city trademark for many years.

First site of the business was on Government Street where the Westholme Hotel now stands. It was movel to Broad Street in 1888 and about 1915 to the present location at 932 Johnson Street where it still carries on under the name John Meston Ltd.

Mr. Meston, who made his home here at 1500 Shorncliffe Road, retired in 1952 after selling the business. But his carriage firm had long since stopped manufacturing carriages, switching to the auto age when horseless carriages became popular.

Mr. Meston, who died in St. Joseph's Hospital, was a member of the Victoria Kiwanis Club, Pacific Club and the Royal Colwood Golf Club.

He is survived by his wife Lillian and one son John Roy, at the family residence; a daughter, Mrs. W. J. Babcock, Vancouver; two grandsons, and a sister Mrs. V. Bowen of San Marino, Calif.

OLD-LINERS FALLING APART?

Bennett an Old Hand At Revolts—Laing

VANCOUVER (CP)—Arthur Laing, British Columbia leader of the Liberal Party, Wednesday night replied to a statement by Premier Bennett that the "old line parties are falling apart all over Canada."

In an interview, Mr. Laing said the premier was "the Tory who tried twice to unseat his leader before seeking sanctuary in the Social Credit party."

Premier Bennett bolted the Progressive Conservative party during the 1951 legislative session and joined Social Credit.

Meanwhile, Deane Finlayson, provincial Conservative leader, reiterated Wednesday that the revolt within his party stems from fears that the national party might link up with Social Credit.

"My people know there are those in the party who will take it into coalition with the Social Credit party if it is to their own advantage," said Mr. Finlayson.

Liberal leader Arthur Laing said today that Premier W. A. C. Bennett is "attaching all blame for his own incompetence to the federal government."

Mr. Laing said: "When provincial politicians get in trouble they turn to the federal field.

"Mr. Bennett's pattern is now beginning to emerge.

"He is becoming tired of the hard monotony of administration."

The Liberal leader said: "What we require in this province is for everyone from the premier down to get back to hard work and hard thinking.

"Does Bennett realize that national Social Credit out of 5,500,000 votes cast in the last general election got only 45,000 outside of Alberta and B.C.?

"I want Mr. Bennett to answer two questions:

1. Does he subscribe to the Social Credit brief before the federal banking committee on fiscal policy?; and

2. Does he agree with his national leaders—Low, Blackmore and Hansell—in defense of McCarthyism?

"We Liberals will continue to encourage the finest intellect of this province to come into provincial service. We will certainly need it, after this crowd."

U.S. Deficit $3 Billion

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower reported today he had cut about $10,300,000,000 from former President Truman's federal spending budget for fiscal 1954 which ended last June 30.

Even so, the treasury wound up with a deficit of $3,029,000,000 for the 12-month period. This was about $245,000,000 less than President Eisenhower had estimated last January.

"We have come over two-thirds of the way towards balancing of the budget," Mr. Eisenhower said in a statement. "And we have done this while putting into effect a tax program which will return nearly $7,500,000,000 to the people."

The federal government spend about $67,600,000,000 and received in taxes and other revenue about $64,600,000,000 in fiscal 1954. Mr. Eisenhower's estimate last January called for spending of $70,900,000,000 and revenue of $67,600,000,000.

Indo-China Settlement to Speed Efforts for Asian Defense Pact

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — High U.S. officials believe the Kremlin will follow up the Indo-China peace agreement with a reinforced drive to break the western powers' anti-Communist alliance.

They expect an early and vigorous renewal of Soviet proposals made at Berlin early this year for an all-European defense treaty in which Russia would join. That plan was offered as an alternative to the European Defense Community treaty which the United States strongly urges as a means of permitting West German rearmament with French approval.

And there is considerable concern here that the Indo-China agreement may throw European peoples off guard and thus make Soviet policies and propaganda aime at a key point of the Western defence system more attractive.

Washington would like to see Western unity tightened and strengthened in the wake of the Geneva settlement. In fact, President Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles give every evidence of regarding this as essential for the security of the non-Communist world.

As a move in this direction, the United States, Britain and other friendly countries have agreed to call an international conference late next month to write for Southeast Asia a defensive alliance designed to protect non-Communist lands there against Communist conquest.

This decision, reported by highly placed diplomatic authorities, means a speed-up of perhaps several months in efforts to shore up in Southeast Asia against possible further inroads of the Communists. Britain earlier had been taking a "go slow" line and diplomatic quarters until today had expected no conference could be held for some time.

There is no fear here of a Communist renewal of open military aggression in Indo-China. The fear is rather that the Reds will use political and economic pressures and subversive tactics to undermine south Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos and eventually take them over.

'MILLIONS ENSLAVED', VIETNAMESE CLAIM

SAIGON (Reuters)—Ngo Dinh Diem, Viet Namese premier, said today his government "could not accept the enslavement of millions of countrymen faithful to the Nationalist ideal."

The cease-fire agreement signed in Geneva Wednesday ending the Indo-China war provides that Viet Nam should be divided between the Communist north and the south roughly along the 17th Parallel pending elections within two years.

Diem's foreign minister, Tran Van Do, resigned from office Wednesday night at Geneva. He said his mission to the talks, to prevent the partitioning of his country, had failed. French and Viet Nam military commanders issued orders of the day deploring the partitioning but declaring the fight for freedom has not been lost.

The Spilt Milk

INSTEAD OF CRYING OVER THE spilt milk of Indo-China the free world should learn from its past mistakes there and avoid them in the future.

The short-run, tactical mistakes are obvious enough and have caught most of the headlines—the hesitations and contradictions of American policy; the bluff of intervention which was called; the threats which the Congress had no intention of making good; the announcement that Indo-China must be held at any cost and the quick discovery that it could be partitioned without fatal damage. But these were not the root causes of the French debacle.

It stemmed in the first place from the over-extension of France's limited resources. They were unable to support re-armament in Europe and a costly war on the other side of the world. And to the lack of adequate resources was added a continuing weakness in government.

Even that twin weakness, however, does not fully explain events in Indo-China. France's original mistake was to suppose that, while Britain was granting freedom to India, Indo-China could be held against the wishes of its people as a distant annex of the French Empire. In the pinch France could not persuade the Indo-Chinese to fight for France or convince them that, in this war, they were fighting for themselves.

The great lesson of Indo-China, therefore, is that no Western military campaign can permanently succeed in Asia without the support, or at least without the consent of the Asiatics.

That is no longer an abstract principle. It must be the core of the defense system which the West is now trying to erect along the truce line negotiated at Geneva. Unless the system finds consent among such great Asiatic nations as India it will not succeed. The policy of Britain is based primarily on that premise which, so far, is not adequately understood in the United States.

The immediate problem emerging out of the Geneva deal is thus not so much military as political.

In military terms the West can certainly build a NATO of the South Pacific, draw a defense line, arm it and fight if it is crossed by any aggressor. This will be costly, it may well compel a general upward revision of military budgets but it is a relatively simple business.

The difficulty, which conditions British policy and causes disagreement with the United States, is to make these preparations acceptable to the Asiatic peoples whom they are designed to protect—to demonstrate, in short, that the West's power is not being used, as it was used by France in Indo-China, to coerce the Asiatics but to support them against their real enemies.

Under the best of conditions that would require statesmanship, time and infinite patience. Unfortunately, the West approaches the problem under perhaps the worst of conditions, at a moment when the alliance between the United States and most of the Western world is under terrible strain and when American policy is under the added strain of a doubtful Congressional election.

All things considered, it would be vain to expect some sudden solution in Southeast Asia like the success of NATO in Europe. But at least the West may have learned, at the cost of military defeat and the tragedy of millions of human beings, not to repeat the mistakes of Indo-China.

The Future of Mr. Stevenson

INTERVIEWED IN VANCOUVER the other day, Mr. Adlai Stevenson said he did not know whether he would be a candidate for President of the United States in 1956, and wouldn't say even if he did know.

This is the politician's proper answer more than two years before a poll. But the foreigner will be forgiven if he already has answered that question in his own mind.

Mr. Stevenson, it appears, will be a candidate simply because no other Democrat approaches him in stature. He did not wish to run in 1952 but his reluctant consent then, and his magnificent campaign against hopeless odds, made him the prisoner of his own success (for it was a brilliant personal success, despite the immediate result.) Such a man, while in health and relatively young, can hardly escape renomination.

If Mr. Stevenson is not ready to make up his own mind on partisan politics, it is entirely clear on the largest immediate item of international politics. He is opposed to the admission of communist China to the United Nations, but he is equally opposed to the United States' withdrawal if China is seated.

The narrow lunatic fringe which imagines that the United States can contract out of the world in a sulk if it cannot have it own way in everything makes no dent on the hard mind of Mr. Stevenson. On issues of this sort he would certainly rather be right than be President.

Some critics say that Mr. Stevenson, the wit and phrase-maker, would also rather be bright than be President. But if humor has always been a doubtful asset in American politics (the unique figure of Lincoln excepted) Mr. Stevenson's familiar jests have never hidden his wisdom, his broad learning and, above all, his understanding of ordinary men everywhere. Whether as President or otherwise, the politics of the United States and the world cannot afford to lose him.

Helping to Protect the Larder

FORMAL APPROVAL BY THE United States senate has put all but the finishing touches to the fisheries treaty between Canada, the U.S. and Japan covering certain species in the North Pacific.

The importance of this pact, several years in the making, will be generally recognized as a sweeping conservation measure in a vital industry.

Specifically the treaty applies to certain salmon, halibut and herring waters on this side of the North Pacific and to areas on the other side of the ocean where Japanese fishermen have particular rights to harvest different types of fish.

Where one or more parties to the agreement can prove exploitation of certain fisheries to the limit of safety—that is, to the extent where perpetuation of the species is assured in commercial volume—the other nations' fishermen will not intrude.

By this means the source of supply is maintained. The fish will not be fished out and the industry will survive.

Previous measures of a similar sort—notably the halibut treaty of important parliamentary significance to Canada—have illustrated the value of such pacts. They stand not only as protective devices to prevent the extinction of an important food resource, but as examples of the ability of countries to work together for mutual advantage.

Now completed is a major undertaking on which Hon. R. W. Mayhew labored tirelessly and successfully for Canada during his term as minister of fisheries.

The Wicked Old Days

BRITISH COLUMBIANS WHO are concerned about the future of their new liquor system will derive a certain measure of assurance from a remarkable little book just published by Mr. Edwin C. Guillet, that indefatigable compiler of Canadiana.

Mr. Guillet has devoted many years to a study of the inns and barrooms of early Ontario, from the time of the United Empire Loyalists onward. He has collected a fascinating store of facts and 235 photographs to illustrate them. Later on he intends, in two more books, to trace the hotel business in other parts of Canada.

His trilogy will interest all students of the nation's history, since the hotel has always been one of its centres, the place where great affairs were customarily debated in pioneer times and where, very often, the decisions of statesmen were made, with a glass in hand.

The layman will be more interested to see how the liquor system, which is never perfect anywhere, has gradually improved since the barroom was a serious social evil and drink a national menace. We have come quite a way since every street was lined with saloons and, it is said, most Ontario farm houses kept a pail of whiskey and a large dipper at the back door, for general use. But we have a long way to go yet before we learn how to use liquor sanely and moderately and to eliminate its baneful influence on politics.

LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Tragedy in the Bath

MULTITUDES of anxious readers — well, at least one or two—have written me to ask the real facts about Mr. Horace Snifkin's new summer cottage. This interest is flattering, in one fashion, and insulting in another. It is an insult, I mean, to hear that even a fraction of the public doubts the word of this column and wonders whether Mr. Snifkin is building a house in the woods or in my imagination.

Hutchison

There is no question about that in these parts. Mr. Snifkin is building all right, or trying to build; the evidence of which, so far, is a hole in the ground, a dizzy spider-web of beams lurching at all angles and Mr. Snifkin's latest disaster, precipitated by Mr. Ray Dougan and certain obscure insects.

I have no defense to make for the insects. But I would like to say a word on behalf of Mr. Dougan.

That universal servant and friend of the public in this nameless region recently arrived at the end of Mr. Snifkin's woodland trail accompanied by his able helper, who is known for his erudition and kindly spirit as the Prof. (An abbreviation, in case you didn't know, of the English word, Professor). Anyway, Mr. Dougan and the Prof could be seen at a recent rainy dawn carrying a bath tub on their backs through some half-mile of timberland, over a narrow and dangerous trail.

Only these supermen could have borne such a burden and arrived at the Snifkin menage not only intact themselves but with their precious burden unscarred and immaculate. I should add that Mr. Snifkin and I offered our help, we took over for perhaps 50 yards and then collapsed, with the bath tub on top of us. We were useful only as cushions to ease its fall. The cushions are permanently dented but the bath tub was undamaged at the end of its heroic journey.

THEREUPON Mr. Dougan made a depressing discovery—the tub would not fit into the bathroom contrived by Mr. Snifkin. By none of his cunning calculations could Mr. Dougan, the mathematician, find a way to insinuate the tub into the new house, for it had been boarded up and the doorways were too narrow to admit anything wider than Mr. Snifkin, who is notably narrow. So it was necessary to tear off the side of the house which had just been nailed securely by Mr. Snifkin's spikes.

Fighting back his tears, Mr. Snifkin violently removed the boards with a sledge hammer, undoing two weeks' labor and a lot of expensive lumber. Surely, he thought, this must be the final tragedy of an adventure launched by Mrs. Snifkin, against her husbands better judgment. Alas, it was not. Mr. Snifkin had not foreseen the eagle eye of Mr. Dougan and the obscure insects already mentioned.

AFTER installing the tub with a prodigy of skill and an ocean of tears, blood and sweat, Mr. Dougan and the Prof rested on the floor and looked upward at the new roof; or rather the old roof, thriftily saved from the old house and installed, board by board, on the new.

Very quietly, like a doctor breaking bad news to a patient, Mr. Dougan remarked that the roof was riddled with bugs. Of course, he said, that probably didn't matter much. The roof might very well last for a year or two before collapsing on the occupant of the bath tub, at an embarrasing moment. Doubtless Mr. Dougan added, Mr. Snifkin would not worry about such a trifling detail as most likely the tub would contain some unwanted guest or only Mrs. Snifkin.

THUS planting the seeds of deadly suspicion in the breast of Mr. Snifkin, the Prof. and Mr. Dougan completed their work and departed.

The seeds quickly sprouted. Having blamed his wife for everything, indicted the scheme of the universe, the insect kingdom and the laws of nature, and having cursed the day of his birth, Mr. Snifkin leaped upon his new roof and tore it to pieces with maniacal fury.

And thus after more than a month's toil of mind, body and purse, Mr. Snifkin found himself, at this writing, in possession of a white bath tub gleaming nakedly in the sun, roofless, half filled with rain and perhaps not too seriously dented by Mr. Snifkin's falling hammer. So if anyone doubts the veracity of these dispatches again, let him come up here and survey the lurching ruin of wood, the busy insects and the two figures of Mr. Snifkin painfully laying a new roof and Mrs. Snifkin dumbly watching the rain drip into her dented tub.

Speaking to Canada

MAYOR AND PRESS
Toronto Globe and Mail

When Mayor Saunders assumed office two weeks ago, he had the opportunity indeed, the duty—to establish a more orderly and intelligent atmosphere at the City Hall. Unfortunately, he has elected to follow in the footsteps of his predecessor, culminating with the demand that the press should "obey" him by staying away from closed meetings of the board of control.

As editor and publisher of a monthly magazine, Protestant Action, Mr. Saunders should have a better understanding of the function of the press, and his own relationship to it. He should know better, also, than to arrange closed meetings, from which it is excluded. The press has every right to report and comment on public business. The Mayor has every right to criticize the manner in which it does. There, the matter ends.

OUT OF CONTEXT
Ottawa Citizen

Dr. Hilda Neatby's Maclean's article is illuminating in one particular, for it bears out the opinion of those who found it impossible to believe that Miss Neatby has a close, first-hand knowledge of the actual work of schools all across Canada. "Admittedly," Dr. Neatby confesses, "my failure to visit Canadian schools might well have rendered my opinions more or less worthless if it had been my purpose to generalize on proceedings in the classrooms." Instead, she "tried to determine . . . from official statements . . . what our educational leaders think should go on."

That is to say, Dr. Neatby collected articles, programs of study, and the like; she found some passages that could be—and should be—held up as badly written, and others that were open to the interpretations she chose to put upon them. This procedure may have its usefulness, but inherent in it is the danger—which Dr. Neatby did not escape—of misleading the reader by quoting paragraphs out of context.

FATALLY OVERLOADED
Ottawa Journal

While death and injury inevitably march hand in hand with Canada's vacation season, it was particularly shocking to read of the mass fatality at the Lake of Two Mountains when 12 children drowned after the 12-foot outboard motorboat in which they were riding capsized.

According to reports of the tragedy, only one adult—the owner who operated the outboard engine—was aboard and he was giving a joy-ride to a large group of children. How anyone could take a chance on loading 17 children into a 12-foot boat passes the understanding.

One can only hope that, mindful of this tragedy at the Lake of Two Mountains, owners of small boats will be prudent, will decline to embark more persons than their craft can carry, and in rough water will leave the craft moored at the dock.

HAPPY THROUGH SERVICE
Hamilton Spectator

Just the other day in Paris a 67-year-old doctor faced his tenth major operation.

This time they amputated his left hand.

"I willingly gave that," he said calmly, "for the lives we saved."

Henri Bourdon meant that. In 1909 as a young laboratory assistant at Paris' St. Louis Hospital he worked with a medical team using one of the first X-ray machines to ease human suffering. Through the First World War he went on exposing himself to the rays, taking pictures of thousands of wounded soldiers.

Bourdon has lived to give life to others.

In spite of the amputations and the pain he himself has suffered, he is a happy man.

He is happy because he has never sought happiness; he has served and has asked for nothing but the right to serve.

HOW TO SPEND
Edmonton Journal

The United States army is reported sending some of its officers to university to learn how to spend money. Harassed taxpayers may think that this "comes naturally" to all government officials, but the actual purpose of the course is to familiarize the officers with the up-to-date purchasing techniques used in private industry. It is hoped that this knowledge will lead to more prudent buying of supplies and services for the armed forces, and less waste of public money.

The Fiddle-Faddlers

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP FROM WASHINGTON

THE Pentagon has convincing evidence that the Soviets are now quantity-producing an efficient guided missile capable of being fitted with an atomic or hydrogen warhead, and with enough range to hit any of our overseas air bases except those in Spain and the Mediterranean.

Joseph

The Pentagon also has probable evidence of a still larger Soviet guided missile, most likely built around the powerful new M-103 rocket engine that the Soviet engineers have perfected. With a range of 1,800 miles, this missile will bring all our trans-Atlantic and trans-Pacific air bases under fire.

Very recently, hard information has been received of a large order placed in Eastern Europe, for special rail cars apparently designed to transport missiles of the larger, longer-range type. This new development, if correctly interpreted, indicates that these missiles are also entering the phase of quanity production.

Such facts as these, in turn, are clear proof that this country is now being treated to an unconscionable amount of fiddle-faddle by its leaders. The kind of thing that the official leadership encourages, and we poor boobs generally fall for, was well illustrated the other day by the joint congressional committee's report on the new atomic energy bill.

MAGINOT LINE THINKING

"America's preponderance in atomic weapons," smugly declared the committee, "can . . . serve emphatic notice on the Soviet dictators that any attempt . . . to push further anywhere into the free world, would be foredoomed to failure."

Those words were written when the Soviet dictators were finishing a most successful push in Indo-China. But that is not the worst of their implied untruths. Their worst untruth is the idea that large numbers of A and H-bombs, in and of themselves, will always give this country the whip hand in the struggle for the world. This idea is the true "Maginot Line thinking" of the postwar period.

In fact, of course, the Soviet and American A and H-bomb stockpiles are only one element in the balance of air-atomic power. A-bombs and H-bombs which cannot be delivered are mere expensive toys. In the era of plentiful stocks of the absolute weapons, the ability to deliver the weapons is obviously more important than the weapons themselves.

Nearly a year has passed since the Soviets tested their H-bomb with lithium hydride core, capable of being produced rather rapidly and in large numbers. There is no doubt at all that the Soviets already possess enough A-bombs to inflict terrible wounds on this country. In 18, or 24, or 36 months—for the time is not long—the Soviet A and H-bomb stockpile will be in the plentiful class.

LURID FUTURE

This in turn confers a somewhat lurid future meaning on the two Soviet guided missiles referred to above. For when the Kremlin has enough A and H-bombs in stock, the missiles can then be fitted with atomic or hydrogen warheads. And when and if that is done, our overseas air bases will, in effect, cease to be dependable assets.

This physical vulnerability of the bases is still quite largely in the future. In the present, however, there is another tendency of almost equal importance. As the Indo-Chinese affair has shown, our allies are less and less willing to risk a collision of will with the Kremlin, because of their growing fear of Soviet air-atomic strength. That means that many of our overseas bases are also politically vulnerable.

No secrets will be revealed to the enemy, but no doubt Americans will be surprised to learn, that the loss of our overseas air bases from any cause, whether military or political, will be the exact equivalent of the physical destruction of approximately 60 per cent of the Strategic Air Command.

Stewart

General Curtiss LeMay's great force has been planned just big enough to do its job from the overseas air bases. Last year, the Eisenhower administration actually cut back SAC growth, on the ground that SAC did not need extra long range air groups.

CRIPPLING STRIKING FORCE

SAC now mainly relies on its superb medium range bomber, the B-47. These planes can reach Soviet targets from American bases, but only by the difficult, dangerous and time-consuming process of double air-refuelling. If this expedient has to be resorted to, the B-47s will only be able to make about 40 per cent as many sorties as they could from the overseas bases. Obviously, cutting the number of possible sorties is just like cutting the number of available aircraft.

The Pentagon has effectively admitted the danger to our overseas air bases, by giving SAC a big tanker program, to increase air-refuelling capacity. But no steps are planned to give SAC more bombers, or to speed B-47 production, which could be doubled in six months. And so the threat to our overseas air bases threatens to weaken our over-all air-atomic power, at the very moment when Soviet air-atomic power is rapidly and formidably increasing.

As Our Readers See It

UN CRITICS

Reference your editorial "Strain In the UN." Many distinguished leaders of thought, besides Senator Knowland, have urged that the British Commonwealth and U.S.A. withdraw from that organization. Thus the press—powerful Lord Beaverbrook—"Evacuate the United Nations and don't meddle any more in the domestic affairs of foreigners." Then there are the Scripture scholars who deduce that UN will suffer the same fate as the League of Nations.

If it is true that veto-triggered Russia is firmly established as the permanent head of the UN, as well as dominating the Security Council, is it not apparent that we are in a strait jacket? And perhaps this is why, too, we have been such a tragic failure at the diplomatic table.

ANTI-FLUORIDATION

May I write once more concerning fluoridation? To quote W. D. McCormick, MD, Toronto, in an article, "Domestic Water Fluoridation—Its Pathogenic Potentialities,' accepted March, 1953, for publication in Archives of Pediatrics, New York City:

"It is the strong affinity of fluorine for calcium which results in its deposition in dental and osseous tissues, and which, when present below a certain critical level, builds into the calcifying dental enamel an increased density and hardness which gives apparently resistance to dental decay. 'This is essentially a chemical reaction, analogous to the industrial use of fluorine in the hardening of cement and concrete.

"It is nevertheless a pathogenic process, as is also the deposition of calculus (tartar) on the teeth, which also is known to give a certain degree of immunity to caries, while at the same time it is conducive to periodental disease—gingivitis and pyorrhea. Fluorine likewise may be concurrently conducive to periodental disease."

One more quotation, this time from Dr. Paul Manning, DDS and life member of ADA: "In a personal survey of 1,500 dentists" he "did not find one who would use fluorides on his own children's teeth." Also, "One hundred and nine dentists in Worcester, Mass., sign petition headed by Dr. Max Ginns, DMD, condemming fluoridation as being unscientific . . . does not prevent tooth decay . . . accumulative poison . . . harmful for all human beings."

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK

By RUTH ENKE

Swing of the Pendulum

THEIR name is Modern, and the children had never heard of family prayers until their grandmother told them about the prayers they had in the family when she was a girl.

Ruth

She's a wonderful story-teller with a vivid choice of words and she made the little Moderns see that large family of long ago. There were eight of them; Frances, slim and dark; and blue-eyed Mary; Judith, who was plain and practical, and Helen, the artistic dreamer who never reached any place on time. And after the girls came three boys, all red-headed and all full of the devil. At the very end, was Carol, the spoiled baby of the family.

★ ★ ★

Every morning, after breakfast and before the children went to school, they had family prayers for 15 minutes.

The father usually read from the Bible — a psalm and then a story—and the mother played the piano for the single hymn. The prayer was short—just the Lord's Prayer and perhaps a simple plea for help for someone whom they knew was in trouble or distress.

The young Moderns, who were still at the stage of "Tell-us-a-story-of-when-you-were-a-little-girl," thought Grandma's family prayers sounded interesting.

"Were the boys good?" they asked. "Or did they wriggle and pinch?"

"They wriggled and pinched," said Grandma. "And sometimes they tried to skip family prayers. Because children don't change much, you know. Our clothes were different from yours, and we talked a different kind of slang, but we got into the same amount of mischief, and had the same tempers and tears and fights. And the boys were awful teases."

Mrs. Modern, who is 45, was listening to all this.

"Why did we never have family prayers?" she asked.

"It wasn't fashionable," her mother replied. "As children we had so much compulsory religion, with church twice a day on Sundays, and only special books allowed, that we revolted when we grew up. I didn't want you children to have religion thrust down your throats. Nowadays, I wonder whether, perhaps, my generation made a mistake."

★ ★ ★

"Family prayers would be impossible in our house," said Mrs. Modern. "It's bedlam from the moment we get up. Ted's shaving in the bathroom, the toaster's popping, and the whistling kettle's whistling, and the kids are hunting for their school books, and I'm cutting lunches like mad. And all the time the radio is blaring, and I can't wait to get them out of the house so I can have another cup of coffee and a cigarette."

"Lack of organization," her mother retorted. "School books and lunches could be done the night before. Why don't you get up 15 minutes earlier?"

"Oh, Mother," Mrs. Modern said impatiently. "And the Bible! The children would think it was like Sunday school."

"Well, then," said her mother. "Try a piece of lovely literature, or a well written book about noble men and women. Hero worship is natural in the young. It's up to you to supply the ideals and the heroes. You can't moan about the comics and take them away if you put nothing in their place. That simply creates a vacuum."

"You make it sound so easy, Mother," Mrs. Modern said. "But Ted would mutter that he doesn't know how to read aloud, and the children would be tiresome. Everyone is so jittery and tense these days. You've no idea."

★ ★ ★

"I have a very good idea," her mother snapped. "Sixty-nine isn't senile, you know! And one of the many reasons for the tenseness is that people have abandoned the things that our generation was taught to revere. Material values and physical comfort alone don't bring happiness. You have to feed the mind and spirit, too."

"Maybe we'll try," said Mrs. Modern.

(And if you watch, you'll find that this sort of thing is beginning to happen all over North America today.)

TV Plant To Be Sold By Tenders

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Lulu Island manufacturing plant of a bankrupt TV firm, Industrial Radio-electric Enterprises Ltd., is to be sold by tender, it was announced Wednesday.

Assets of the firm, which is involved in one of B.C.'s biggest legal battles, include land and building, assembly line machinery, equipment, furniture, stock and office furnishings.

A member of Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association Ltd., trustee in bankruptcy, said total claims might amount to $800,000 accountable to 220 creditors. Many of the claims are still in dispute, and legal ruling will probably last for several months after the sale is completed. Tenders close Aug. 4.

British Theatres Snub NFB Film 'Stratford Adventure' as Highbrow

LONDON (CP)—Sir Beverley Baxter, Canadian-born film critic, today warns British movie moguls to change their minds about "The Stratford Adventure," the National Film Board of Canada's story of the Shakespearian Drama Festival at Stratford, Ont.

In a lengthy review in The Evening Standard, Sir Beverley says the film "moved me outrageously and made me chuckle again and again." He says it is "something new, something real, it is inspiring and amusing—it will thrill and excite any audience in any part of Britain."

But, Sir Beverley adds, he has been informed that British movie houses have turned down the film.

An NFB spokesman in London, commenting on the article, said Britain's two major film circuits have turned down "The Stratford Adventure" on grounds that it was somewhat highbrow. It will, however, be shown at the Edinburgh Festival in August.

LONDON (CP) — Canada Wednesday night placed fifth and last in an international team jumping event at Britain's international horse show in competition against Britain, Germany, Portugal and the Republic of Ireland.

NEW YORK—Debbie Reynolds is wearing a pearl and diamond bracelet from Eddie Fisher. Intimates report he's "really gone" on the beautiful Hollywood actress, and that she's "playing it cool" although she admits he's the first young suitor she's ever taken seriously — her reported romances with such flicker heroes as Robert Wagner and Tab Hunter being strictly publicity gimmicks. Debbie is fond enough of Eddie to have given him a gold mezuzah on a gold chain, and to insist that the usual Fisher entourage do a disappearing act when she and the crooner date. When they're a continent apart, he telephones her twice a day.

Market Expert Can't See Any Sharp Decline

Tabell Predicts 'Normal Correction'

By ELMER C. WALZER
UP Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UP) — If you are one of those who has made up his mind this bull market can never beat 1929 all hollow, don't read what follows. It will only confuse you.

By 1960 you may have a reading in the industrial average of as much as 500 under normal conditions and 600 or higher in a period of speculative excess, says Edmund W. Tabell.

Tabell is no wild and wooly market prognosticator. He is a hard working chartist and analyst for Walston & Co. Back on Jan. 7, 1954, he predicted the current market almost to a point.

Writing in the current Commercial and Financial Chronicle, Tabell traces the current bull market to the present.

"I would expect," he says, "that for the next six to 18 months the Dow-Jones industrial average will hold in an area bounded roughly by 350 and 300.

CONSOLIDATION SEEN

"During this period many issues could continue their advance while others consolidate and form re-accumulation areas . . .

"After the consolidating period has been completed, I expect a renewal of the advance with an ultimate objective, in about 1960, of 450 to 500 under normal market conditions and 600 or higher in a period of speculative excess."

Tabell dates the bull market back to June of 1949. In the period from that time to June, 1950—12 months—the market rose 31 per cent and had a corrective decline of 15 per cent.

From 1950 to Jan., 1953—a period of 30 months—there was a 51 per cent advance followed by a 13 per cent decline. From Sept., 1953 to July, 1954—a period of nine months—there has been a 32 per cent rise and no correction. A 14 per cent correction now would bring the average back to 300, Tabell notes.

CHANGE OF PATTERN

He does not believe the market is vulnerable to a sharp decline despite the rapid advance in the past nine months.

He is convinced, however, that "some pause or consolidation is needed and that the straight line advance in the averages will be replaced by a wide trading area in which individual trading issues will show extreme selectivity."

Tabell doesn't carry his predictions beyond the possibility that a 600 level could be attained. He doesn't mention the word "bust."

Wheat Stocks Mount Higher

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canadian wheat and barley stocks showed an increase for the week ended July 14, the board of grain commissioners reported todays Oats and rye were down, while flax remained unchanged.

Wheat supplies were recorded at 359,800,000 bushels, compared with 352,900,000 a week earlier and 237,800,000 a year ago. Barley stocks totaled 44,800,000 bushels, an increase of 1,100,000. Oats stood at 248,800,000 bushels, down 600,000; rye 4,600,000, down 1,800,000, and flaxseed unchanged at 1,500,000.

Reductions were noted in ocean clearances of wheat, rye and flaxseed for the week (July 7 figures in brackets): Wheat 2,200,000 (4,100,000) bushels; oats 200,000 (100,000); barley 800,000 (700,000); rye nil (20,000), and flaxseed 27,767 (37,103).

Grain shipments imported into the United States also were down: Wheat 3,000 (11,500); oats 1,000,000 (1,400,000); barley 200,000 (1,100,000), and rye 2,200,000 (1,100,000).

STOCK MARKET SUMMARIES

Trading Dries Up, Firmness Rules

TORONTO (CP)—Prices firmed in the lightest trading of the year toward the close of today's session at the stock exchange.

Industrials were steady gainers. Western oils steadied ahead after losses in recent sessions. Base metals were narrowly changed. Golds were mixed. Uraniums were steady. Strong industrials were papers, utilities, steels, liquor and financial institutions.

Western oils showed gains and losses equal. Most changes were pennies.

Bigger winners included Calvan, Canadian Colleries, Pacific Pete, Peace River and Merrill.

Steels Race Up On Merger Talk

Tax Relief Hints Spark N.Y. Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels raced ahead of a rising stock market today, with prices around their best in the late afternoon.

Merger rumors involving Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet and Tube circulated in Wall Street and added fuel to the buying flames.

Gains went to between two and four points at times, and many areas displayed substantial improvement.

The entire market got an early boost ahead by the U.S. congressional agreement to give at least partial tax relief to dividends.

Steels were well ahead of other sections of the market, and they were joined by oils, railroads, motors, metals, rubbers, tobaccos and utilities.

CANADIAN STOCKS

McIntyre and Hiram Walker led Canadian stocks higher, up one point, followed by Dome Mines, ahead ⅝; Canadian Pacific, up ¼, and Distillers Seagram and International Nickel, each up ⅛.

Lake Shore, Canadian issues on the American stock exchange, advanced ¼.

Vancouver Inactive

Yankee Princess hung around 33½ cents while 9,000 shares changed hands on this forenoon session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange. Noon quotation was 35 bid.

LONDON (CP)—Quietly firm conditions prevailed on the London stock exchange today although business remained somewhat limited and demand was selective.

Improvement in the international political situation and the overnight advance in Wall Street were seen as helpful factors.

Industrial equities were in selective demand and some issues responded to good company annbuncements.

Two RCAF Comets To Remain Grounded

Await Outcome of British Tests to Determine Causes of Fatal Crashes; Modifications Made

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Canadian modifications to the two Comet jetliners belonging to the Royal Canadian Air Force have now been completed, but the 500-mile-per-hour aircraft will remain grounded pending the outcome of the British tests to determine causes of a series of fatal Comet crashes.

An RCAF spokesman said today that the modifications being carried out in Canada on the two Comets flown by the air force were described by engineers as "super precautionary." They were made in consultation with engineers from the DeHavilland company, makers of the jet liners.

One of the Comets is stationed at Uplands, Ottawa, the second at Downsview near Toronto, where the modifications have been carried out. The two aircraft will remain grounded at those airfields until British scientists solve one of the biggest riddles of the jet age — what caused the luxury liners to explode.

Two conflicting reports of what the tests have revealed have reached Canada. The first was a faulty pressure valve was discovered on the fuel tank truck used in re-fueling two of the doomed Comets at the airport in Italy. The Comets' fuel tanks are filled under pressure and if too great a quantity of fuel was pumped into the tanks under pressure, as the aircraft soared into the stratosphere the fuel expanding as the outside pressure reduced would blow up the tanks and the wings with them.

The second unconfirmed report was that the metal of the pressurized cabin developed "metal fatigue".

Whatshan Repairs, Improvements Made

The B.C. Power Commission announced today repair and improvement work on the Whatshan hydro plant have been completed.

Whatshan was ripped by rock and mud slides last year, and in the wake of an investigation into the disaster, the three-man Power Commission resigned.

The commission said the plant is now operating normally. Thousands of tons of rocks had to be removed and extensive repair work carried out.

Oak Bay Will Submit $37,375 By-Law For Share in Hospital Expansion

Oak Bay Council has gone on record as being in favor of the municipality participating financially in Royal Jubilee Hospital's plan for expansion.

The council Wednesday night approved in principle the submission to ratepayers of a $37,375 by-law, which would cover the municipality's share of the $1,400,000 addition which the hospital envisions.

Council will decide later when the by-law will be submitted for ratepayers' approval. It may not be this December since the money will not be needed for about five years.

Councillor S. P. Birley suggested that the commitment would mean a half-mill increase in taxes on the present assessment basis.

YOUR GUIDE TO SAFE BUYING

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

VANCOUVER—They're almost all here now—the cream of the Commonwealth and off the top many of the world's greatest athletes.

The forthcoming British Empire Games has already caught the fancy of this western metropolis with the games still eight days away. (Dates are July 30 to August 7).

And for B.E.G. officials, Wednesday was the peak day so far in a round of official functions that soon will have mainlanders buzzing even more so than the ringing in their ears now.

Jim Peters

This, the biggest spectacle of its kind ever to hit the west coast, is right now a crescendo of bustle.

Nine teams from Commonwealth countries were billeted at Empire Village at University of British Columbia campus before the day began. And when it ended nine more flags had been raised to join those of their compatriots in affection but rivals for athletic glory.

The heavy influx of athletes began with the arrival of five Nadi tribesmen from the Kenya highlands in the morning.

B.E.G. officials were left shivering in the cool, but refreshing dawn as the plane was three hours late, and they didn't stop the glad-handing until late last night when the second group of Scottish and English athletes stepped on the tarmac of International Airport.

The biggest reception of all took place in the afternoon with the arrival of the full plane load of United Kingdom athletes and which included a pair of world champions.

The athletes were piped off the plane and on their way to Empire Village while individual attention fell to the lot of Jim Peters, the world's top marathoner and Sheila Lerwill, who holds the world high jump mark of five feet, seven and five-eights inches (since claimed to have been exceeded by a Russian woman).

Miracle Milers . . . And More

Even the Miracle Mile contenders like John Landy of Australia and Murray Halberg of New Zealand, who are already domiciled at the Village, and Roger Bannister of England, who arrives later in the week, had the promise of future company in Wednesday's 170-odd arrivals.

He was Victor Mulligan of Northern Ireland who has a 4.06.7 mile in the rain to his credit. The 16-member Jamaican team also arrived in late afternoon and brought some good tidings for other teams. George Rhoden, the world's 400-metre record holder was missing, having decided to remain at home. Their leading nominee for honors is Les Laing, an Olympic sprinter who can dangle the 200 metres in 21.2.

The Welsh and Nigerian teams were welcomed later in the evening while the Bahamas and Uganda squad representatives checked in earlier.

Included on the Kenya team was Jonathan Lenemiria, a school teacher by profession, who owns the Empire high jump mark of six feet, seven inches.

Everybody in the Whirl of Events

Meanwhile at Empire Village, everything was a beehive of activity. At UBC stadium, more people than usually attend any normal track meet were on hand just to watch the athletes practice. And this has been the case all week.

The swimmers were getting attention, too, at the Empire pool on the campus, while the cavalcade of automobiles coming and going gave a world series air to the scene.

Downtown, the B.E.G. headquarters was being flooded with calls and applications for tickets while the main ticket office at Hudson's Bay Co. had a line-up so long that one applicant remarked: "Gee! And I only got an hour for lunch."

Some B.E.G. officials have even retreated into official hiding as a temporary restraining measure so that they may fulfill their duties without being badgered into a state of uselessness to their function. And well they must.

Suffice to repeat, the Empire Games fever has caught and is spreading like measles through a grade school. Vancouver is all but ready now.

OLIVER LEADS PGA QUALIFIERS

Sam Snead Treed; Still Gets a 73

ST. PAUL (AP)—Sam Snead, manoeuvring with a sharp list to the starboard and a grouchy look that was the natural result of a stiff neck, had to climb a tree on the 15th hole to make a reasonably good score in the first qualifying round of the Professional Golfers Association championship.

Ed Porky Oliver, suffering from a painful kidney ailment that has forced him to drop out of several recent tournaments, holed putts from all over the course for a five-under-par 66, best of the day.

And 28 players shot 71 or better over the barren, sun-hardened Keller course to turn the opening round of the nation's toughest test of professional golf into a race against par for the 64 available places in the match play bracket.

That was the story as 135 of America's leading pro golfers headed into today's qualifying second round with the prospect that a 36-hole total of 146 or better would be needed to get into the showdown stage of match play, starting Friday.

HIGH SPOT

Snead's "shot" from a post oak tree alongside the 15th hole was the high spot of the opening round in which the pros took Keller's par of 36-35—71 to pieces just as had been predicted.

Snead almost pulled out of the tournament. But he decided to give it a try and until he hit the 225-yard 15th was doing very well.

There his tee shot was caught by the wind. The ball lodged in the fork of a tree, some 15 feet above the ground, and Sammy, stiff neck and all, had to go up after it. He knocked it out and got a five on the par three hole for a creditable score of 35-38—73.

Aussies Seek '62 Empire Games

VANCOUVER (CP) — Australia, favored to win the British Empire Games here next month, will seek to have the 1962 games staged in Adelaide.

Jim Eve, secretary of the Australian Games Society and general manager of its team here, said Wednesday he would officially ask the meeting of the Games' association next week to have the down under city considered as the 1962 site.

It is generally conceded the 1958 games will go to Cardiff in Wales.

DOT GAINS GOLF SEMIS, BUT SHIRLEY DOESN'T

VANCOUVER (CP)—Smooth-hitting Dorothy Herbertson, of Victoria, plays Mrs. H. Cleat of Point Gray today in a semifinal of the B.C. Women's Closed golf championship.

The other semi-finalists vieing for the 36-hole title round at the Shaughnessy course Friday are Miss Ruth Wilson and Mrs. William Knox, both of Vancouver.

Thursday, 19-year-old Miss Herbertson defeated Mrs. Brice Evans of Shaughnessy 1 up.

Dorothy became the only outsider in the last rounds of the tourney when her Gorge Vale clubmate, Shirley Fry, bowed 1 down to Mrs. Knox, Marine Drive women's champion.

Tyees Bow Again

Shriners to Fete Locals Friday

Salem 10, Victoria 2

It will be "Shrine Night" at Royal Athletic Park on Friday night. And Victoria Tyees are assured a colorful welcome when they return home for a three-game stand against Yakima Bears.

Fans will be entertained by the Victoria Gizeh Shrine Club band and the Victoria Girls Drill Team in a pre-game ceremony starting at 7.15.

All Shrine club members will be in attendance and Little League baseball players will be guests. In addition, two Shrine clowns will also provide entertainment.

Wednesday night, Tyees could muster little power at the plate as they dropped their fourth straight game, a 10-2 decision, to Salem Senators. Two Solon pitchers held Victoria to six hits while Senators teed-off on two Tyee hurlers for a total of 13 hits.

John Briggs, who hurled the first eight innings for Salem, got the mound victory, while Berlyn Hodges suffered the loss. In addition, Briggs scored what proved the winning run when he hit safely in the fourth and came home on a single by Mel Krause.

Salem scored in every inning but two, being held scoreless in the first and second frames by Hodges. Bob Drilling came on to pitch in the eighth inning for Victoria.

Tyees scored their first run in the fourth inning on an error and singles by Tom Perez and Don Lundberg. Neil Sheridan doubled to drive in manager Don Pries with Tyees' only other run in the fifth frame.

CURFEW HURTS

In other WIL action, Wenatchee Chiefs must be wondering what it takes to win a game. Winners of only four games in the second-half, Chiefs thought they had No. 5 Wednesday night when Jake Holmuth homered in the 11th inning to break a 7-7 tie.

But Helmuth's home run came after curfew time of 11.15 and umpire Don Fisher ruled that it did not count. Chiefs protested the game.

Yakima edged into third by moving past Tri-City Braves, 3-1, and Vancouver Capilanos whipped Edmonton Eskimos, 6-3, in the first game of a seven-game stand at Edmonton.

SOLARIUM DERBY DAY NEARS

By DENNY BOYD

Somewhere a Fish Is Waiting

Somewhere there is a fish.

This is a salmon, a huge, gleaming, slab-sided lunker of a salmon who may be part of history by Sunday night.

Content and as arrogant as only a king-size salmon can be, this fish now is partaking of one of its last meals on this earth.

On Sunday it plans a trip. It may go to McKenzie Bay, Coal Bay, Whittaker Point, Chesterfield Rock or Goldstream. It knows the pickings are good around those places for a hungry salmon.

For some time now this grandfather type fish has been visiting these spots and raising havoc with fishermen, stripping their lines but never making the fatal mistake of swallowing a hook. The fish holds anglers in complete disdain.

But it will be different Sunday.

Perhaps it will be a Lucky Louie or a Strip-Teaser or a Wallace Hi-Liner but the fish is going to get careless. After a knockdown, dragout fight the fish will be dragged into a boat and quickly dispatched with a short length of lead pipe.

The angler who ends the foraging of this fish will stare at his catch in awe. Then he'll start his motor and make tracks for a boathouse. He'll weigh the fish in and then sit back to await the results of the Anglers-Times Solarium Derby. He may go home richer by a new boat, or perhaps an outboard motor or a kitchen set of tables and chairs.

If you have bought your ticket for the big derby, which starts at 6 a.m. Sunday, this angler could be you.

The fish are there, the prizes will be there and there are plenty of tickets available.

In fact, officials of the derby committee will be burning midnight oil selling tickets as they have set themselves an $8,000 target this year.

Last year's derby raised slightly over $6,000, all of which was turned over to the Queen Alexandra Solarium. This year, Wes Fulton and his committee want to add an additional $2,000 to that total.

These Farmers to Test Tyees Sunday

It will be the amateurs against the pros at "Amateur Baseball Day" Sunday at Royal Athletic Park when Farmer Construction of the Vancouver Island Senior Amateur Baseball League meet Victoria Tyees of the WIL in an exhibition game. A pageant will start the program at 1.30, with the two teams meeting at 3.35. Norm Forbes (above), one of the four Farmers pictured, has been named to start on the mound for Farmer Construction. He led the Pacific Coast Conference league in pitching and batting this season while with the University of Oregon and has given up only one earned run in two amateur starts since returning to Victoria. His will be the task of stopping the Tyees' big bats. (Times Photos.)

Browning, Severson In Old Form

By RON COULTER

It's a fact.

Those incomparable blondes known as the "Gold Dust Twins" are at it again in the Intercity Lacrosse League.

Archie Browning and Whitey Severson, forced out of the limelight most of this season through the performances of the likes of Jack Bionda, Jack Northup and the successful return of Norm Baker, flashed their old form Monday night at Memorial Arena.

And they clearly showed they can still be rated the top one-two punch in the league as they led Victoria Shamrocks to a 19-8 victory over New Westminster Royals.

However, the game probably cost the Rocks the services of forward Larry Booth for at least one game and possibly more. It is believed Booth injured a cartilege in his left knee.

Browning fired four goals to lead all players in that department, while Severson whipped in two counters and assisted on four other goals, three by Browning.

Victory was the second straight for Shamrocks over the Royals in less than a week and boosted the locals to an eight-point lead over second-place PNE Indians. Rocks whipped Royals, 23-11, here last Friday.

Wednesday's game was superior to that of last Friday in nearly every department. The youthful Royals made it close for two periods, despite another shaky performance by goalie Doug McRory, and never stopped trying. They just ran themselves out in an attempt to keep pace with an improved Shamrock club.

Rocks led 4-2 at the end of the first quarter, upped the margin to 8-5 at half-time and then ran away from Royals in the final two quarters. They outscored the mainland club, 7-1, in the third quarter and 4-2 in the final frame for what appeared to be an easy victory.

Apart from Browning and Severson, Baker and goalie Geordy Johnston were probably the class of the Shamrock team. Baker came through with two goals and played well, while Johnston was particularly adept, especially in the last half.

Indians Increase Lead As Chisox Thump Yanks

By now only five teams have serious ideas about reaching the world series this fall, but a whole hatful of others in both leagues are still scrapping to see who will help cut up the swag.

Players on the first four teams in each league share in the world series receipts.

It's generally conceded among all but the diehards that either the New York Giants or Brooklyn will be the National League representative against Cleveland, the New York Yankees or the Chicago White Sox.

In the upper brackets Wednesday Cleveland took a half-game lead over New York when the Yanks crumbled before Chicago 15-3 while the Indians were playing their second straight tie in Boston. Rain halted the 7-7 contest in the top of the ninth inning.

The Giants maintained their seven-game advantage over Brooklyn with a 2-1 triumph at Chicago. The Dodgers tripped Cincinnati 5-1.

St. Louis outscored Pittsburgh 13-12, Philadelphia defeated Milwaukee 6-1 and Washington shaded Baltimore 6-5 in other action.

Brooklyn's Carl Erskine turned in an outstanding pitching performance, retiring the last 23 Cincinnati batters in order after Bob Borkowski homered in second inning. He got plenty of support for a change with Carl Furillo's five-hit attack. Erskine gave up two hits and struck out 10.

NEW ZEALAND GIRL CRACKS SHOTPUT MARK

VANCOUVER (CP)—Yvette Williams, New Zealand's outstanding athlete and considered a cinch to win the broad jump at the July 30-Aug. 7 British Empire Games, created something of a sensation Wednesday when she heaved the shotput for a distance of 44 feet 10½ inches in a practice. The recognized British Empire record for women is 40 feet 6¼ inches.

Miss Williams holds the world and Olympic record for the broad jump with a distance of 20 feet 7½ inches. She is entered in the shotput, broad jump, discus and 80-metre hurdles in the Games.

Jackie MacDonald, of Toronto, set a Canadian women's shotput mark of 43 feet 10¼ inches in a meet at Victoria last Saturday.

Button Fish Top Ladder Derby List

The fish in Saanich Inlet appeared more co-operative Wednesday night as four catches topping the 20-pound mark were boated and numerous other smaller fish were hooked in the eighth week of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby.

Top fish of the day, although not entered in the derby since the angler who made the catch had qualified previously, was a 23-pound, 2-ounce spring taken with a Mac's Squid by Albert Fisher. The button-size whopper was hooked between Bamberton and Senanus Island.

George Wale, who had already qualified for a rung on the ladder, pulled in the second largest fish of the day, boating a 22.01-pound specimen at Willis Point, trolling deep with a Mac's Squid.

Two other button fish were registered Wednesday, placing Dick Berry and Cliff Heglin in first and second rungs on this week's ladder. Berry pulled in a 22-pound spring at the Goldstream end, and Heglin registered a 21.14-pound prize among a five-fish haul.

Lloyd Chow took third spot on the ladder with an 18.09-pound specimen.

V's to Decide World Puck Stand Sunday

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Penticton V's will probably have to choose between defending the Allan Cup next year or representing Canada in the world hockey championships in Germany, Dr. Mel Butler, president of the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association said here Tuesday.

Dr. Butler said association officials will meet representatives of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League Friday night to deal with Penticton's proposed European jaunt.

Canadians Fare Well In Western Tee Meet

SEATTLE (AP)—Lanky young Kevin Riley of Vancouver scorched Broadmoor's front nine with a 30 today, and defeated Paul Johanson, Seattle, 6-5, in the first round of match play in the western amateur golf tournament.

Riley's score was four under par for the first nine, two strokes better than any other contestant has done in two days of play.

His 18-foot putt on the ninth hole rimmed the cup and stayed out, robbing him of a birdie that would have made his score 29.

He was the 1953 British Columbia junior champion. The youngster goes to London, Ont., next month to bid for the Canadian junior title.

Two other Vancouver shotmakers also turned in victories.

Walt McElroy walloped Capt. Robert Stafford of McChord Air Force Base, Wash., 8 and 6 for the widest margin of the day and Lyle Crawford sent Warren Campbell of Seattle to the sidelines by a 4 and 3 margin.

MAIN ELIMINATED FROM NET TOURNEY

Bob Lone Canadian Hope

TORONTO (CP)—The singles matches in the Canadian tennis championships have just a bit of Canadian flavor.

The singles were down to the quarter-finals today and only Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., was in there to go after top international players. Bedard, second-seeded Canadian, faced the No. 2 Japanese Davis cupper and fourth-seeded foreigner, Atsushi Miyagi.

Bernard Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., the wiry southpaw stylist who is top-seeded foreigner, was scheduled to meet Ricardo Balbiers of Chile, fifth-seeded among the foreigners.

The other two members of the Chilean Davis Cup team which lost to Canada last week gained some revenge by also reaching the quarter-finals of the Dominion championships.

Husky Luis Ayala, Chilean national champion, meets No. 1 Japanese player and third-seeded foreigner, Kosei Kamo. Ayala is the second-seeded foreign player in the tournament.

Straight-set conqueror of Lorne Main, Canada's top-ranking player, in Wednesday's fourth-round play, Andres Hammersley, 34-year-old Chilean star, goes against Andy Paton of Ann Arbor, Mich. Paton is ranked sixth among the foreigners while Hammersley is seeded seventh.

All men's singles matches from here in are best-of-five sets.

Earl Walls Favored Over Romero Tonight

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canadian heavyweight champion Earl Walls, enters the ring here tonight a 2-1 favorite to dispose of Edgardo Romero, a hulking 243-pounder from Argentina.

Walls, of Edmonton and Toronto, hopes to become the first to knock the South American off his feet, despite a 51-pound difference in weight.

For his part, Romero says he will be shooting for a knockout in the non-title bout any time after round five of the 10-rounder.

"The way I got it figured," said Joe Herman, Romero's loquacious manager, "is that Romero can take it and he's going to have to take it for four or five rounds.

"By that time this guy Walls' arms will be tired and he'll think he's been working all day on the docks. That's when my boy'll move in."

Walls and manager Jimmy Jones are keeping their strategy a deep secret.

"We'll talk over the way I'll fight him on the afternoon of the fight," Walls said quietly after his final workout.

Both fighters broke off training Tuesday afternoon with light sparring sessions.

The fight will be staged outdoors in Callister Park and promoter Earle Kalani is counting on a crowd of 8,000. The weatherman has cautiously predicted a rainless sky.

Supporting the main event will be light-heavyweights Henry Hall of New Orleans, Walls' sparring partner, and Eddie Cotton of Tacoma, Wash., who will meet in another 10-rounder.

Jack McLean of Edmonton and Hal Kitchen of Calgary will fight a six-round special event and Edmonton's Tuppy Tyler will tangle with Ken McPhee of Vancouver in the lightweight semi-windup.

Boxla Drill

The Victoria all-star junior lacrosse club, which is scheduled to meet the Mainland juniors Saturday night at Vancouver, will work out tonight at Stevenson Park starting at 6.30.

Coach Archie Browning has invited all juniors to attend.

McKEACHIE HELPS TOO

Odd Fellows Make Most of Few Chances

A four-way tie for National League first place was broken Wednesday night at Little League Park, vaulting Odd Fellows into sole possession of the lead and sending North Kiwanis to the basement.

Odd Fellows, though only allowed three hits, made the best of them to earn a 4-2 victory.

Odd Fellows never looked back after the opening two-run first inning, scoring again in the third and in the fourth.

North Kiwanis got seven hits from pitcher John Marshall.

Odd Fellow first baseman John McKeachie played a major defensive role in the win, snagging a sizzling liner off the bat of Stan McLeod to end a Kiwanis threat with the bases loaded in the fifth.

Tonight at Little League Park Kinsmen will meet Oak Bay Kiwanis at 6.30 in American League play.

Victoria and District Minor Lacrosse Association pee wee league leaders, Saanich Tigers, ended a 16-game winning streak Wednesday night at Memorial Arena as they dropped a 15-9 verdict to an all-star team picked from other squads in the league.

The battling Tigers fought hard, keeping the score close until the final session when they were outscored by their heavier opponents, 6-1.

At Stevenson Park Wednesday, Fairoaks tied 14-14 with Fernwood in bantam league play.

Officials announced Wednesday that an all-star game between Victoria and Nanaimo at Nanaimo, originally scheduled for Saturday will now be held July 31, and a league game between Fernwood and Saanich will be held Saturday at 11 a.m.

Aussies Get New Shell

VANCOUVER (CP) — Australian oarsmen here for the British Empire Games recovered Wednesday from a bad case of the jitters.

They obtained a replacement for their borrowed shell destroyed by fire Tuesday 11 days before the start of the Games.

Manager Roy Thursfield said that the University of Washington in Seattle was lending the Aussies a four-oar shell.

Trail Student Selected For Empire Games Trip

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — A 15-year-old Trail high school student Caesar Maniago has been named the winner of a B.C. Athletic Round Table Society trip to the British Empire and Commonwealth games.

The Trail student was one of five candidates selected by school inspectors in the East and West Kootenay for a possible trip to the games.

Skinner Gets Wing Post

LOCKPORT, Man. (BUP) — Jimmy Skinner, 37, the hot-dog king of Lockport, was on his way to big time hockey as an "honored man" today after being named coach of Detroit Red Wings of the National League.

"It will be a great honor to coach the Red Wings," Skinner said. He hesitated when he was first contacted about the post, thinking about his thriving drive-in restaurant business.

Like his predecessor, Tommy Ivan, Skinner never played in the NHL. He learned his hockey in Manitoba, first coming into prominence with Selkirk.

Skinner is well versed in the workings of the Detroit club. He coached the Windsor Spitfires of the Ontario Junior Association for a number of years, and sent several players up to the parent Leafs.

Moore Adds More Fuel To Feud With Stanky

MILWAUKEE (AP)—There seemed to be some doubt in the Philadelphia Phillies dugout about the sincerity of the apology made the other day by manager Eddie Stanky of St. Louis Cardinals. "He said the same thing in 1952, right after he got the job, but the reform didn't last long," said Terry Moore, new manager of the Phillies who was involved in the fracas last Sunday at Busch Stadium in St. Louis. Moore, a Cardinal coach in '52, was released a short time later by Stanky, and the two have not been exactly friendly since then.

Moore chuckled Wednesday night when someone mentioned that the Cardinals had beaten the Phillies Monday night under the direction of coach Johnny Riddle while Stanky was under suspension.

"Yeah," said Moore, "and things were a lot different in the dugout, the boys tell me. Why, they said some of the Cardinals were even smiling and I heard somebody say it was too bad Stanky didn't get the whole season off."

Moore went on to explain that under Stanky there is strict discipline in the Cardinal dugout during games, with no conversation permitted and players ordered to look straight ahead at the field at all times.

"He used to have a system of fines," Moore went on. "I think it cost you a dollar if you took your cap off like this," and he put his cap on his knee. "There were a lot of others, too."

Tenders Called For Runway at Comox Air Base

2,000-Foot Extension Planned 'Standard' for Fighter Aircraft

COURTENAY—Tenders have been called for the construction of a concrete extension to the main runway at the huge RCAF station at Comox.

Although Department of Transport officials said they had no idea whether the program was associated with the proposed addition of a squadron of CF-100 jet fighters at the station, they said "the CF-100 is the better for a longer runway."

The runway now is barely 6,000 feet in length, with a cleared over-run. The extension will be of 2,000 feet, to bring the runway up to the accepted standard length for a modern fighter base.

FIRST ON COAST

The expected jets, with the force the Pacific Coast command, and will be the first of their kind to be stationed on this coast. Squadron of Lancaster long-range bombers will remain at the base for coastal reconnaissance.

Tenders call for an extension to runway 11-29 and return taxi. This runway extends from the high bluff overlooking Georgia Strait on the east side of the airport to Little River Road, that parallels the northwesterly side of the air station. It will be an all-weather runway.

Cost of the job will be in the neighborhood of $250,000.

Tenders will be received up to August 9. Plans and specifications will be on display in Vancouver, and at the Victoria Building Industries Exchange, Victoria.

William S. Sharp Trial Adjourned In Duncan Court

DUNCAN — County Court hearing of a charge against William Sylvester Sharp, of theft by conversion of $1,187.50, was adjourned Wednesday to Sept. 1.

Both D. K. MacAdam, representing the Crown and David R. Williams, for the accused, requested an adjournment because they received a transcript of the preliminary hearing evidence only three days ago.

Sharp, former owner of a real estate business in Duncan and now in the RCAF was committed for trial by Magistrate A. C. Sutton in police court here July 7 and later in the day he appeared before Judge L. A. Hanna in County Court and elected speedy trial before a judge without jury.

Will Spend $865

BRENTWOOD — Community Club directors on Tuesday night authorized an expenditure of $865 to reroof its hall on Wallace Drive.

The meeting has been called originally to discuss the proposed childrens sports day, but the idea was shelved when it was found most children of the district are away on holidays.

New directors of the club will be installed at the September meeting.

A. P. Glen, Retired Miner, Served Ladysmith 45 Years

LADYSMITH — Arthur Percy Glen, 72, resident of this district for more than 45 years, died here Wednesday after having suffered poor health for several months.

Paymaster for Canadian Collieries for 30 years, and a miner before that, Mr. Glen was secretary-treasurer of Ladysmith General Hospital for 35 years, and was administrator from 1948 to 1953.

He was secretary of St. John's Lodge No. 21, AF & AM, for more than 35 years, and secretary-treasurer of the Wellington-Extension Medical Accident and Burial Fund. He served on the executive of the B.C. Hospitals Association for several terms.

Born in London, England, he came to Canada in 1906 to work on the Banmockburn Farm, Saanich, and Coldstream Ranch, Vernon, before going to work in the Extension Mine, 11 miles from Ladysmith.

He was one of the survivors of the explosion that rocked the mine in 1909.

He served as storekeeper for a time, then became paymaster, and moved to Ladysmith in 1918.

Surviving are his widow and one son, Roderick, in Nanaimo.

Duncan East Indian Girl Reaches London on Tour

LONDON (CP) — Thirteen-year-old Shkontla Mayer of Duncan landed in London Wednesday on the last lap of a solo world tour.

The little, dark-eyed traveler, of Indian descent, paused long enough to book a bed at a girl guide hostel and then scooted off, pigtails bobbing, to see Windsor Castle.

It's almost a year since Shkontla left her parents—Mr. Mayer is a Duncan store owner and lumber merchant—and sailed for Hawaii. Since then she has been to Japan, the Philippines, Malaya, India, Egypt, Italy and France.

She's following the route taken two years ago by an older brother, now 15.

"All the tickets for my journey were bought by my father," said Shkontla, trim in her girl guide uniform. "He has sent me spending money from time to time. I have spent about $300."

FIVE VOLUMES

Shkontla, one of eight children, recalled some of her travelling impressions, packed into a five-volume diary.

She remembered a tea-time visit with Lady Templer, wife of the famous high commissioner in Malaya, a glimpse of a legendary ghost in a Malayan village, and a meeting in New Delhi with her grandfather, who is "100 years old, but still rides a bicycle."

Shkontla sails Friday for Montreal in the Empress of Australia. She wound up an interview with one of the lessons she's taking home:

"I've learned how different people live, and I know now what a good country I live in, because I saw how poor people are in India."

Her parents moved to Vancouver Island from New Delhi 35 years ago.

Multiple Peak Alpine Club Objective

Spires of Mount Colonel Foster in Strathcona Park are objective of week's outing of Victoria Alpine Club in August. The mountain, named several years ago for Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, was first climbed by A. G. Slocomb in 1936, but many needle points are left to be explored. Located northeast of Donner Lake at headwaters of Elk River, it is more than 7,000 feet in height.

'Yards' of Food on Varied Menu For All-Sooke Day Celebration

SOOKE—Volunteer workers will attack 90 yards of bread Friday night to make sandwiches in preparation for hungry throngs expected to jam Sooke River flats Saturday at the annual All-Sooke Day celebration.

Fires will be lit Friday in order that Andre Robillard can do his best job of barbecuing fresh salmon, and extended parking space will be levelled.

Childrens sports will be held in the morning, and loggers' sports will start in the afternoon. While these are in progress the salmon and beef barbecues, refreshment booths, "gold rush," and other attractions will operate.

One of the feature attractions will be the baby contest for the Victoria Daily Times Cup. Entries are limited to the rural districts of lower Vancouver Island.

The afternoon program will conclude with log birling on the Sooke River, and both Sooke residents and visitors will celebrate the event at a dance Saturday night in the community hall.

The All-Sooke Day queen will be crowned at the dance, scheduled to start at 8.30 p.m. to permit people to come directly from the flats to the hall.

Space has been provided at the riverside for picnic parties, and hot water will be provided.

The annual event, first held in 1934, is sponsored by Sooke Community Association. In previous years it has been attended by crowds estimated at close to 10,000.

TOT PREFERS TRUCK CAB TO SPANKING

PARKSVILLE (BUP) — A five-year-old boy who thought he would be spanked for staying out late was found early Wednesday fast asleep in the cab of a truck after police and civilians had searched all night.

The searchers, using the police dog Rip, hunted through bushlands and along the banks of Englishman River only to find that young Terry Thorne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thorne, was comfortably sleeping in the truck one-half mile from home.

Derrick Capsizes On Nanaimo Job

NANAIMO—A giant floating derrick being used to clear a channel for a new CPR terminal here will be placed in drydock for inspection of damage received when it capsized Monday.

Capt. M. A. Corfield of the Nanaimo Towing Company narrowly escaped when the derrick crashed into the channel. He was aboard the Nanaimo Comet between the derrick and shore, and was hauled to safety by another vessel with only seconds to spare.

Air Line Authorized To Duncan, Mainland

Pacific Western Will Extend Gulf Island Trip to Serve Quamichan, Cowichan Lakes

DUNCAN—A direct air service between Vancouver and Duncan, Lake Cowichan and Youbou has been authorized by the Air Transport Board in Ottawa.

Pacific Western Air Lines' application to extend its Gulf Island service was approved, according to L. A. Wellburn, company traffic manager, and service should be instituted within a month.

He has not had time to consider schedules and tariffs, he said.

The air line now serves Port Washington, Galiano and Ganges. Duncan will be served by a seaplane landing on Quamichan Lake, less than two miles from the city.

Duncan Chamber of Commerce was instrumental in rousing interest in the service after Queen Charlotte Air Lines gave up its Vancouver-Cassidy flight.

A survey of the chamber among logging firms and businessmen indicated an air line would receive considerable support.

Quamichan Lake, former base for a Duncan flying club, is used now by private aircraft.

Uplands Bus Service May Be Curtailed

BCE Officials Outline Plan to Oak Bay Council; 20-Minute Service Instead of 15

Uplands buses will operate a 20-minute service instead of 15, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., if B.C. Electric's application for an 8 per cent reduction in mileage is approved by the Public Utilities Commission. The company is also seeking a fare increase from 10 to 13 cents per ride.

B.C. Electric officials outlined to Oak Bay council Wednesday just how the proposed service cut would affect municipal residents.

H. R. Halls, the company's transportation manager, and Ralph B. Matthews, assistant to the vice-president, explained that to break even the company had to take in 55 cents per mile. He said at present the system was only carrying about four passengers a mile so that revenue was down to about 40 cents.

In addition to the five-minute cut in daytime service on the Uplands route the company proposed to eliminate the Uplands feeder service. Willows buses will serve the Uplands area once hourly after 8 p.m.

The present 15-minute Gorge-Willows service from 9 a.m. to noon will be made a 20-minute service.

The 10.30 a.m., 11.30 a.m., 8.30 p.m. and 9.30 p.m. buses to Cadboro Bay would be eliminated. The three morning Mayfair specials would also be abolished.

On Sundays, Uplands feeder service would be eliminated and the area served by extending Willows buses to Uplands once hourly throughout the day.

Eaton's Employees Hold Picnic

Games, races, rides and refreshments attracted upwards of 1,000 employees, children and guests to Eaton's annual picnic Wednesday afternoon and evening at Dominion Experimental Farm, East Saanich Road.

Grand prize for children went to Ullie Prees, who took home a pet budgie bird and cage. But no child who participated in afternoon races was forgotten. All were given a prize whether or not they were winners.

Besides races, there were pony rides, a mechanical horse, merry-go-round, slides and seesaws to keep children busy.

Adults indulged in horseshoe pitching, and hole-in-one golf, followed by picnic supper for all.

A magic show and demonstration of power model aircraft wound up the evening.

New Labor Temple Ready by July 31

TLC-AFL Affiliated Unions to Take Over Quarters on Pandora; Dues Hike Discussed

Headquarters and offices of locals of the Victoria Trades and Labor Council (AFL-TLC) will be operating in the new Labor Temple at 613-15 Pandora Avenue by

Percy Rayment, secretary, announced at a Wednesday night council meeing that July 31 was the deadline for the shift of offices and equipment from the Hamley Building at Government and Broughton.

The labor temple will be officially opened with a ceremony during the Labor Day week-end. The new biulding is owned by the Victoria Building Co-operative Association.

The meeting approved a motion that August meetings be cancelled to give office staffs time to settle into their new quarters.

The question of increasing the per capita tax per member of the council was shelved until the first meeting in September. A hike from five to seven cents a month is being sought.

Decision was made to inform all secretaries of locals of the reason why an increased revenue was imperative through per capita tax for the proper function of the council under present-day conditions.

Mr. Rayment said he had learned that Okanagan and Prince George councils collected a 10-cent monthly tax, the Prince Rupert council 10 cents every quarter from every affiliated member.

"We've got to get more money to operate with. Why, we are existing on a five-cent rate that was set 15 years ago when top tradesmen were not getting any more than $1 an hour. We have a top official we can only pay one third of what he should be getting and for the last two years we haven't had enough money to send a delegate to the convention," said Thomes Gooderham, Pacific region representative of the Trades and Labor Congress.

'ARMY WORMS' CAN BE HEARD MUNCHING

WINNIPEG (CP)—Farmers whose crops are being devoured by hordes of "army worms" were told today their fields will be a dinner table for the invaders for at least another 10 days.

After that, says the department of agriculture, the situation will improve. Once the larvae grow up into moths, they quit eating.

Much of eastern Manitoba has been attacked by the worms but so far there has been no estimate of crop damage.

J. A. Tooth, agronomist for the agriculture department, said the "army worm" invasions seem to run in cycles.

"The last big influx was 15 years ago, and possibly it may be that long until the next cycle," he said.

Reporters who visited the Beausejour district, 38 miles northeast of Winnipeg, said the worms could be heard clearly as they munched their way through a field of newly mown hay.

ON TRIAL—Wilbert Coffin, 43-year-old prospector, is on trial at Perce, Que., charged with the murder last year of three Pennsylvania hunters in Gaspe. Coffin is charged specifically with killing 17-year-old Richard Lindsey of Holidaysburg, Pa., whose body was found last July, along with those of his father, Eugene, 47, and Albert Claar, 20, more than a month after they disappeared while on a bear-hunting expedition in the Gaspe bush.

BOB NICKELLS' DISCOVERY MAY KEEP SWIM STAR DRY AND WARM

Flo to Test Bapco's New Waterproof Grease

By DENNY BOYD

The success or failure of Florence Chadwick's attempt to swim the Strait of Juan de Fuca, from Victoria to Port Angeles, possibly may be decided in a chemical laboratory.

Bob Nickells, 29-year-old assistant chemist in the British-America Paint Company, cosponsor with the Victoria Daily Times of the $10,000 swim, is the man who holds the answer.

Nickells has developed a new body grease compound which he believes may be more effective than the lanolin compound Miss Chadwick has used on previous swims.

Miss Chadwick has experienced some trouble with lanolin in the past, finding that it tended to congeal and crack under cold temperatures.

Nickells began to experiment with Silicone, a grease compound that is used in high-flying aircraft because of its resistance to low temperature. It is used to lubricate aircraft motors and has not been found to crack or congeal under extreme cold.

Silicone is a synthetic compound, developed for industrial purposes in the last 10 years. Its heavy density also makes it waterproof.

Demonstrating the waterproof qualities of Silicone in the Bapco lab Wednesday, Nickells wrote the word "Flo" on a piece of porous paper with the Silicone. He then held the paper under a tap and the paper became saturated. However, the letters remained perfectly dry as the Silicone shed the water.

Nickells is making up a compound of a petroleum grease base, modified with the Silicone. He is working out the proper viscosity, or thickness, of the compound. The ideal compound would have a minimum of weight and a maximum of water resistance and pliability.

Miss Chadwick, enthusiastic over the new possibility, may test the grease Saturday when she makes a short exhibition swim in Port Angeles.

Should the grease compound be a success, it will be the second major achievement for Nickells.

He gained a measure of fame for developing Webbo Whitening which is used on white belts and gaiters worn by the Canadian navy.

Nickells whipped up the whitening for the use of an honor guard during the visit of Queen Elizabeth. The compound proved so successful it is now become standard equipment for the navy.

"Could this be the answer?" wonders Florence Chadwick as she sniffs a handful of the new body grease developed by Bapco chemist Bob Nickells. (Times Photo.)

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

See those dark circles under my eyes? Notice the gaunt, haggard expression? Observe how I am wasting away to a mere shadow of my former self?

It is all due to the pup-dog, J.B., her current activities, and consequent lack of sleep on my part.

I am beginning to understand how Mrs. Mary Chadwick suffers before and during one of her daughter's cross-channel attempts.

J.B. has been appointed official Protector of Flo from Catfish when the channel champ attempts to conquer Juan de Fuca Strait.

And J.B. is in really serious training for her duties.

This is all right with me, except for two factors:

J.B. insists on taking her practice swims in the hours long before dawn.

And, since reading Flo's column on water safety, J.B. refuses to swim alone.

The result is, she pulls the covers off my bed at a most indecent hour, and drags me down to the beach to watch her swim.

So far, I have successfully resisted all her attempts to get me into the water. But I could not refuse her request that I row along beside her as she clicks off the watery miles.

I do not own a boat (the only newspapermen allowed to own boats are Publishers) but there is nothing really wrong with a stout log and driftwood paddles, if handled properly.

So, each morning, J.B. and I head out to sea, covering an increasing distance with every training swim.

J.B. is coming along famously. She has an effortless four-beat crawl (with only four feet, how could she achieve an eight-beat?) And J.B. also has the advantage of owning a built-in, fur-lined swim suit.

On the other hand, I am in a continual state of exhaustion, brought on by unaccustomed early hours and the wear and tear of removing splinters from my palms. (They don't make driftwood now like they used to in the good old days).

You can see why I will be even more relieved than Mrs. Chadwick after the big swim is completed.

In addition to the physical debilitation brought on by J.B.'s training routine, I am also under a severe mental strain.

I do not know what to do about J.B.'s demands that she should be addressed with the prefix "HMCD."

J.B. puts the case thusly: "After all, I am Flo Chadwick's official Anti-Catfish Destroyer-Escort. Why should I not be referred to as Her Majesty's Canadian Dog J.B.?"

Currently, when I wish to call her in for the night, I whistle and say: "Come home, HMCD ACDE JB."

What would YOU do?

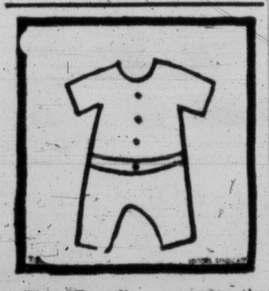
DROODLES



This Droodle suggests the best way to Get Ahead in Hollywood is to wear Bikini Bathing Suits. This is true and I wouldn't have it any other way. But no matter how, Movie Starlets must attract attention and get publicity. My Cousin Clara wanted to get into Pictures and did everything to attract attention. She smoked cigars in cafes, she wore mink bathing suits, she had all her Jewels stolen every week, she bit the Maitre D. at Ciro's and she shot a Producer. But no one paid the slightest attention to her (except the Producer). The last time I saw Clara she was wearing a very daring dress. The hem line of the dress was 19 inches from the floor. This may not sound so daring until you know that Clara was only 24 inches tall.

New Salvage Vessel To Be Stationed Here

Salvage King Successor Sailing Friday From Great Lakes Port

A new, powerful, long-range salvage tug soon will be based at Victoria by Pacific Salvage Limited, replacing Salvage Queen and Salvor, which have been on standby duty since Salvage King was damaged by fire.

The new tug, to be called Superior Straits, was purchased by the company, a division of Straits Towing, Vancouver, on the Great Lakes. She is at present in Port Arthur, and is scheduled to leave Friday for the Pacific Coast.

Superior Straits is 180 feet long, powered by diesel-electric machinery. She has an exceptionally long range of operation without refueling.

Superior Straits, formerly known as Abele, will be fully equipped for salvage and heavy towing.

Pacific Salvage purchased her from Great Lakes Lumber & Shipping Company. Exact dimensions of the ship are: length, 174.5 feet; beam, 36 feet; depth, 19 feet.

The wooden-hulled ship was built in 1942 as a minesweeper.

Second Woman Fined Here for Impaired Driving

The second woman driver to be fined for impaired driving in Greater Victoria this year, Alice Laverdiere, Kingston Street, appeared before Magistrate H. C. Hall in city court today.

She was fined $250 or 12 days and a recommendation will be made for suspension of her license.

Police said the accused had been in collision with a parked car and later was stopped while weaving her car on Oswego Street near Superior. The car mounted a curb before it was stopped at about 8.15 p.m. Wednesday.

Saanich court dealt a similar sentence to a woman early this year. She served the 12 days.

In Victoria city court since the first of the year there have been 45 persons fined or jailed for impaired driving. Today's case was the first woman.

MORE SUNSHINE HERE FRIDAY —BUT BLACK CLOUDS ELSEWHERE

A long-awaited break in the weather came to lower Vancouver Island today and Victorians once again began making plans for summertime activities.

Weatherman William Mackie said the Island, from Nanaimo south, was just outside a solid bank of cloud, reaching as far north as the Gulf of Alaska.

He anticipated, however, that the cloud would continue to stay clear of Victoria and forecast another sunny day for Friday with temperatures reaching into the high 60s.

Comox airport was cloud covered today and Port Hardy, on the northern tip of the Island, had rain.

THE LATE V. A. "VIC" SCHADE

PHIL'S SORRY, VICTORIA VISIT WASHED OUT

Phil Harris is sorry, but he's not coming to Victoria.

From Seattle's Olympic Hotel today he told The Times he regretted missing the flower city during his holidays, but was just too rushed to make the visit.

The TV, movie and radio star was originally slated to stop here at the Empress, but plans were changed.

For the past few days he's been golfing in Seattle and the results, in his own words, "don't look too good." This afternoon he leaves Seattle for a few days' fishing off Cape Flattery.

Among his golfing companions on the Seattle course was "Bing," sometimes known as Crosby.

But Phil had a word to say, regardless:

"Please say hello for me to all my friends in Victoria, especially George Straith. I'm really sorry I can't make it."

Four New Inspectors for B.C. Schools

Eric J. Dunn, principal of Port Alberni High School since 1927, was one of four men today appointed as inspector of schools for the provincial government.

The others were Francis J. Orme, principal of Campbell River Elementary-Senior High School; Douglas C. Chamberlain, principal of Rossland Junior-Senior High School; and John G. Kirk, principal of Duke of Connaught High School, New Westminster.

Mr. Dunn, a UBC graduate, began his teaching career in Nelson, and later became principal of Slocan High School.

Mr. Orme started teaching in Oceanic, B.C., in 1935, and has since taught in the Peace River, the Fraser Valley and for a brief period in Montreal.

A former electrician, Mr. Chamberlain entered the teaching profession in 1928. He has taught in Pacific, Salmo, Nelson and Rossland.

The fourth newly-appointed inspector, Mr. Kirk, has obtained degrees from both the University of B.C. and the University of Washington. He has spent two years on the teacher-training staff at UBC.

'The Olympic' New Name For Improved St. James

A Victoria landmark since 1912, the St. James Hotel on Johnson Street, soon will get a $100,000 remodeling, a new name, and a beer parlor.

Announcement was made here today by Harry X. Bergman of Portland, who has held a major interest in the hotel since 1944.

New name for the hotel will be the Olympic.

Major changes will be made inside and out to the steel and concrete structure. The beer parlor, which will replace the present St. James cafe on the west side of the lobby, will seat 200 persons, with eventual expansion planned to accommodate 550.

SAME ENTRANCE

Main entrance to the hotel will remain where it is, but size of the lobby will be smaller.

Upstairs, new plumbing facilities will be installed along with general improvements to rooms and elevator service.

Mr. Bergman told The Times work would be carried out as quickly as possible.

MODERN MOTIF

Strict regulations of the Liquor Control Board would be adhered to in contruction of the beer parlour, he said, but a pleasing, modernistic motif will be used in its decoration.

The women's section will have a carpeted floor and lounge furniture.

Mr. Bergman, who with his wife are the major stockholders in the hotel, has varied business interests in Portland, but has been a regular visitor to Victoria since 1932.

The Bergmans gained control of the St. James in 1944. Manager is William A. McDougall.

Lumber Theft Case Slowed

A preliminary hearing of theft charges against Philip LeBrun which opened in RCMP court today was slowed by defense objections to police evidence.

LeBrun, former foreman at a naval arsenal project at Rocky Point, is charged with theft of 15,000 board feet of lumber. He was released on $2,000 bail July 18 and is represented by W. H. M. Haldane, Q.C.

The case was slated to continue later today. During morning sessions, before Magistrate A. I. Thomas, Mr. Haldane challenged almost every submission of RCMP evidence.

Prosecutor for the crown is Constable Peter Humphries of Sooke who took part in investigations with Corporal D. G. Rogers at Rocky Point.

The prosecution expects to call about 20 witnesses.

City Nurse Wins $750 Bursary

Janice Bacon, RN, of Victoria, has been awarded a $750 VON bursary that will assist her in gaining a Bachelor of Science degree in nursing at UBC next year.

Miss Bacon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bacon, 2304 Trent Street. She is a graduate of Victoria High School and a former student at Victoria College.

NURSE JANICE BACON

An outstanding scholar, she has won many prizes previously. At Victoria High, she was the second highest ranking student in the university entrance examinations. She took her first-year of college here and won a $100 Lions Club scholarship by outclassing everyone in chemistry and biology.

She began her study of nursing in 1951 at University of B.C., and in 1952 was awarded a $200 scholarship for proficiency in the subject.

She completed a 28-month training course at Vancouver General Hospital in May, and was awarded the John L. Gilmour Memorial Award for the highest standing in theory among members of the graduating class.

$500 Peace Bond Frees Threatener

A change of plea was made in city court today by William Luesley, 44, 1735 Davie, who was arrested recently for threatening his mother-in-law.

He admitted to saying, "Look at this knife. I'm going to kill you with it." The offense took place June 26.

Magistrate H. C. Hall placed Luesley under a six-month good behavior bond of $500.

The accused blamed his action on drink.

Welfare Rules Blamed for Wife Desertion

A prisoner in police court today blamed city welfare workers for advice which made him desert his wife and two children in March.

Douglas Herbert Going, 34, charged with failing to provide necessities, said he left his family after a long session of unemployment here.

"I went to the welfare and they said the only way they could help was if I disappeared," he told Magistrate H. C. Hall.

He also blamed his trouble on heavy drinking.

City prosecutor Alan Bigelow told the court that Going had a record of convictions for theft here, robbery in England, assault in Halifax and had been charged before for desertion.

The accused was remanded to Friday for sentence.

UNPRECEDENTED

Protocol Splintered At City PO

By TONY DICKASON

Ottawa apparently wants to know which way the wind is blowing, non-politically, and to heck with protocol.

The chief architect's office of the public works department there passed with plaudits plans for Victoria's post office, erected in 1952. What didn't catch their eye was a weathervane, atop the 30-foot flagstaff on the building.

According to P. De Noe Walker, retired deputy provincial secretary and an expert on protocol, this just can't be done. Nothing must be above the flag.

But there it is.

Architect of the $2,000,000 edifice, P. L. James, said today he had been "kidded" ever since the building opened regarding the weathervane. Observers sometimes don't know what it is, Mr. James told inquirers that, for personal amusement, it was a "hush-hush" project, akin to radar installations.

If directly under the flag and weathervane it is difficult to see exactly what the contraption might be.

But protocol or no protocol, the weathervane seems to have passed unnoticed through the highest government tribunal. Prime Minister St. Laurent opened the post office in September, 1952, and he didn't say anything about it.

Q.—In a game of horseshoes, A pitches and his first and second pitches are ringers. Then B's first shoe goes wild and he makes a ringer with his second shoe, over the top of A's two ringers. How is this scored and to whom? Mrs. I. O.

A.—As one player's ringer cancels another player's ringer, B's ringer counts out one of A's. A ringer is worth three points. Thus A wins this game with a score of three points. Victoria has a large number of horseshoe pitchers, some of whom are women. The season is now at its height. The record score in this city is 33 ringers out of 50 shoes.

Q—When was York (Toronto) burned by American troops in the War of 1812-14?

A.—That brief setback at the town which is now Toronto occurred in the spring of 1813. American troops occupied the capital of Upper Canada only a week, but they burned the government buildings.

Veteran Tugboat Skipper Dies; Sea-Burial for Capt. V. Schade

The flag at Island Tug & Barge flies at half-mast today, honoring the memory of a well-known tugboat skipper, Capt. V. A. "Vic" Schade, who died suddenly Tuesday.

Only 41 years of age, Capt. Schade was a 25-year-veteran of towboating, all in the employ of Island Tug. He started with the company at 16, as a deckhand. Seventeen years ago, in the same week as he was married, Capt. Schade was promoted to mate of the Burrard Chief.

A few years later, he was made captain of the Chief, and since then had had command of several tugs in the company fleet.

His most recent ship was Island Trooper, which he commanded for several years. At the time of his death, he was on stand-by duty, waiting to take over the company's newest tug, Island Comet, which was to have been launched this week.

Capt. Schade was one of the most popular and respected towboatmen on the West Coast, and he knew island and mainland waters intimately. He was noted for his skill in manoeuvring tug and tow in confined waters.

He is survived by his wife, Cora, and daughter, Judy, at the family residence, 3026 Westdowne Road; a step-sister, Mrs. George Beek, Victoria; two step-brothers, Lloyd McLennan, of Victoria, and Harold McLellan, Seattle; and a cousin, Clarence Raaflaub of Victoria.

Funeral services will be held at Sands Mortuary, 3 p.m. Friday, with cremation at the Royal Oak Crematorium.

By his own request, Capt. Schade's ashes will be scattered at sea—from the deck of his old command, Island Trooper.

Try Sending Modernistic French-Canadian Cards

By PENNY SAVER

Looking for some novelty postcards? How about sending something typically Canadian? Such as French-Canadian post cards?

The cards are novel, indeed. They boast scenes of rural French Canadian life . . . . fishing, dancing, plowing the fields, driving a horse-cart, milking a cow, playing musical instruments are just some of the activities illustrated in bold, dark colors against contrasting white backgrounds. The effect is very modernistic, really.

On back of each card theer is a paragraph in French, telling about the picture. Then, below that is the English translation.

A child who learns French in school would delight in receiving one of these cards. He could translate the French and then check with the English to see if he's right.

The cards sell at 5 cents each.

Wooden brooch and earrings sets, hand-carved, come from Quebec. One set in particular caught my eye. It was a brooch in shape of a horseshoe and four-leaf clover, having the words "bonne chance" (good luck) imprinted on it. The earrings were four-leaf clovers. For such a set you'd pay $1.50.

The same sum will buy a set in bulrush pattern or in a quaint cup and saucer pattern.

A good way to learn French is to listen to French recordings. I heard some popular French hit recordings in a local shop yesterday, and was fascinated at what happens to a well-known song when translated into another language. "Moulin Rouge," "I Believe," "I Went to Your Wedding," although beautifully rendered, sounded not at all like our versions of them. French recordings seems to get a more romantic lilt than ours. Prices range from $1 to $1.25.

WHY GROW OLD?

Let Hubby Take Nap Just Before Dinner

Yesterday I quoted from a reader's letter. The woman who wrote was concerned because her husband goes to sleep the minute he sits down in a chair after dinner.

Her attitude proved her to be an unselfish and perceptive person. She feels that she and her husband should have more companionship together, that they should tap current and cultural interests together, that they should not live through their jobs only.

This is so true! So many married couples have as their main bonds problems and work with little shared leisure. Life is so strenuous that when they are together they are exhausted or conversation is disrupted by the hecticness of small children. There should be some way for a man and woman to snag at least a small part of each 24 hours for themselves.

Prodded by many, many letters from women asking how to keep their husbands awake after dinner, I asked a distinguished physician for the answer. He said, "If the wife will see to it that her husband takes a nap between his return from work and his evening meal I think she will have solved her problem, unless there is some real physical trouble. Of course an hour's nap would be better. If he cannot sleep he should lie down and relax for that long before eating."

It may be just as simple as that to solve your problem! Many women will immediately think, what about me? I could use a rest, too. The children would be starved by that time. The answer is to feed the children early. That is all to the good anyway because it makes adult companionship and conversation possible for the husband and wife. After feeding them either put them to bed or send them out for the evening to play or to read or look at books or watch television or divert themselves as they are accustomed to doing.

While the woman who has young children and does her own work has a strenuous job, she can usually find time for a rest or nap during the day if she makes up her mind to do so. So either nap when your children do, or take a rest when your huband takes his before dinner in the evening.

If your man seems so tired that he cannot remain awake after dinner he should have a physical checkup because some conditions such as a low thyroid can make one sleepy and tired. If he finds that he has no trouble, then try the nap before dinner routine. If you try it yourself after a hard day you will find that it can make all the difference imaginable in your personality and fun during the evening.

'Idealist' Disgusted With Family, Friends

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

High ideals are fine, provided they are reasonable. I suspect that much of this young man's trouble stems from the fact that he is allowing himself to get out of touch with reality. He writes:

Hurlock

(Q)—"Ever since I was a boy I have loved to read. From my reading I have derived great enjoyment and, at the same time, have formed my ideals and standards. I have always tried to have high standards for myself and to live up to them. Sometimes, I must admit, I fail pretty far short, but I try hard to avoid mistakes in the future. Now, my big problem is not myself but my family and friends. I get so disillusioned and disgusted with them at times I can hardly be civil. It seems they just don't try to make the most of what they have. They are satisfied with mediocre results, and I feel they are being weak. Am I being too intolerant for my own good?"

(A)—You certainly are. I am surprised that your family and friends want to have any more to do with you than they have to with the attitude you have.

You may not realize it, but when you are disgusted with your family and friends it shows in your behavior. Naturally they will resent your smug superiority and hypercritical attitude.

I suggest that you spend less time on books and more on getting to know real people. In books the author can make the characters think, and feel as he wishes. In real life you must learn to take people as they come, accepting their bad qualities with their good ones.

It is fine to have high standards and to try to live up to them. However, you should not set inflexible standards for other people. I am sure you would be the first to resent it if they tried to set your standards for you. If you spend more time with people, you will learn that they do what they do largely because of circumstances in their lives which are beyond their control.

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

It's blackberry picking season! Not the great black beauties that hang over your back fence in clusters that are easy to see, but the wild variety that crawls away under the bracken and the brambles down into the ravines and up over the rocks.

Enthusiasts tell you there is nothing like the taste of wild blackberry jam on toast of a winter morning. And they are willing to get scratched and bruised just to indulge this taste.

Some go even farther than that. Early in the year they take a jaunt out into the country and search for the vines that have the most blossoms and they mark the spots with tin cans on sticks and white rags tied in the trees. As the days go by, they go back once in awhile to make sure the berries have set and that the crop will be good.

Bessie

Then comes the crucial decision . . . when will they be ready to pick? Your enthusiast has to make up his mind . . . a day too soon and the berries are still red . . . a day too late and some other enthusiast has got them.

Just last week-end I heard of a couple of enthusiasts who started out on Saturday to go far up-island to a river that is noted for its wild blackberries. They took their sleeping bags and camped out over night so they would be ready to start picking at the first crack of dawn. They had NOT been out earlier in the year to mark any particular spot, but before dusk on the Saturday they discovered a place that to use their own words "was simply black with berries."

Up at dawn they had picked the patch clean in a matter of two hours and were ready to eat a good breakfast of bacon and eggs beside the river by the time the sun was high.

As they were leaving two cars drove up the winding dirt road and they could see grown-ups and children with buckets and pails, heading for the spot they has just picked clean.

Well . . . that's the way it goes when you go blackberry picking today. You get scratched . . . you get bruised . . . but sometimes you don't get many berries.

In years gone by wild blackberry picking wasn't nearly such a complicated affair. A day was set aside for it, of course, and the family would start out early in the morning, loaded with pots and pans and buckets. The mother of the family would pack a lunch and it would be picnic day.

There was no need to go miles away from the city to find the berries, they were hanging by the hundreds on vines along the roadsides and in the fields, anywhere you wished to look on the outskirts of the city, out Gordon Head way, around Mt. Douglas . . . in fact, everywhere on the Saanich Peninsula.

You picked and picked until every available container was filled. Then you picnicked for the rest of the day. At night when you came home, tired and happy, the mother of the house started the big kitchen stove, the jam kettles came out and the house would be filled with an aroma that cannot be described . . . it can only be remembered.

In the morning there would be row after row of jars of wild blackberry jam.

The idea is just the same today, but spots near the city are now homes and gardens and the Saanich Peninsula has few uncultivated fields left. So, if you want wild blackberries . . . you work hard for them.

I know because I went out last week-end, too. I'm scratched and I'm bruised and I'm stiff and sore!

How many berries did I get? . . . One small pailful! A taste for my toast come a winter morning!

More Women in Public Life Is Calgary Woman's Slogan

CALGARY (CP)—Mrs. Rose Wilkinson of Calgary thinks too many women neglect public life.

She feels too many of her sex confine all their thoughts and energies to the small worlds in which they find themselves—their homes, their offices or the narrow social circles in which they move.

Rosie, as Mrs. Wilkinson is known, has been a member of the Calgary city council since 1935 and a Social Credit member of the Alberta legislature for Calgary since 1944. She was re-elected in 1948 and 1952 heading the poll in Calgary by wide margins both times.

"There are so many opportunities for women today," Mrs. Wilkinson commented.

Mrs. Wilkinson was born in County Cavan, Ireland, and received a convent education. When she graduated from high school, she entered St. George's Hospital, London, Eng., for nursing training. She graduated at the age of 20 and spent several years doing post-graduate work.

Leaving England she went to West Virginia where she had a brother, Rev. Eugene Owen. There she married Fred Wilkinson, a Saskatchewan man and the couple went to a farm near Regina.

They moved to Oyen, Alta., in 1924 and organized a 10-bed hospital. Mrs. Wilkinson took on the job of matron.

In 1927 they moved to Calgary and Mrs. Wilkinson opened a physiotherapy clinic and lectured at Holy Cross Hospital's School of Nursing.

She was busily engaged at the clinic when her first nomination for city council was announced.

"I was at first hesitant to go into public life but when I looked around me and saw the poverty in the midst of plenty, I felt this might be one way I could help."

Pakistan's First Woman Diplomat A Moslem but Never Has Worn Veil

KARACHI, Pakiston—(Reuters)—The dainty but energetic Begum Liaquat Ali Khan becomes Pakistan's first woman diplomat when she takes up her appointment as ambassador to Holland in September.

Coming from the largest Moslem state in the world where it is still the custom for women to remain in purdah, in seclusion away from strangers' eyes and veiled, the tiny dark-eyed princess' achievement is all the more remarkable. She has never worn the veil.

Four feet, 10 inches tall, she sometimes wears size two platform shoes. She was born Irene Pant, the daughter of Christian parents, in Almorah, the united provinces, about 50 years ago. She attended an English school, Wellesley Girls' High School at nearby Naini Tal in the foothills of the Himalayas. Later at Lucknow University, she was the first woman to receive a master of arts degree.

She decided on teaching and went off to New Delhi. She met her future husband while trying to sell him tickets for a charity show in which she was taking part.

FOUND COMPANION

But Liaquat Ali Khan, who was to be Pakistan's first prime minister, refused to buy because he said he had no companion to go with him. Vivacious Irene reputedly replied, "Then I will sit with you."

It was two years before she saw Liaquat again, and in the meantime she began to take instruction in the Moslem religion. When she married she became a Moslem and took the name of Raana.

In 1947 when Pakistan became a dominion in the British Commonwealth, Liaquat Ali Khan became prime minister and his westernized wife, by her wit and charm, helped him in his duties.

She became known as the "dynamo in silk," for although she wore lipstick, used nail polish and enjoyed a cigarette, the begum never abandoned eastern clothing.

Western dress, she once said, is drab and dreary.

CANADIAN TOUR

In 1950 the begum and her husband left their two sons, Ashrof, now 17, and Akbar, now 9, in the care of the English nurse and went to visit Canada and the United States.

This was a year before the prime minister was assassinated while addressing a meeting of Moslems in October, 1951.

The couple traveled across the North American continent, winning friends everywhere with their kind and simple ways and with the begum's sparkling sense of humor.

After her husband's death, the begum continued her efforts to wean the women of her country away from the ancient customs which keep them from public life. She introduced an all-Pakistan women's association and established a women's national guard, a voluntary organization which gives women military and nursing training.

Australia's 'Shangri-La' Reveals Earthquake-Worshipping Natives

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — The first white man to enter New Guinea's newly discovered "Shangri-La" today told of finding a stoneage civilization of earthquake worshipping natives.

Australian geologist John Zander, four native police and 20 bearers were allowed into one of the fertile, hidden valleys only after an earth tremor persuaded the village headman to let them in on the grounds that "the earth had spoken."

Zander and his party comprised an Australian expedition sent to check on the "lost civilization" after it was spotted from the air last month. Pilots flying over the valley described it as resembling the Shangri-La of James Hilton's novel "Lost Horizon."

Zander's report on the farming community of tall natives equipped with stone-age implements was relayed here from Port Moresby, New Guinea, where he has returned after inspecting the village. The dispatch was sent by the Australian Broadcasting Corporation correspondent in Port Moresby.

When he met them, Sander said, the natives were wearing headdresses and carrying stone axes.

He found them friendly and eager to show the party their grass houses. Each family lived apart in a house with its own garden, instead of in villages. They carried out their farming and handicrafts without the aid of metal implements.

They told Zander they had heard of the white man before but he was the first they had ever met.

'LOOK WHERE YER GOIN' -ER-YER HIGHNESS'

LONDON (Reuters)—Londoners were wondering Wednesday if they might soon see Princess Margaret driving about town herself in the shiny new black Rolls Royce limousine recently delivered to her. The car cost £8,000.

In the past, the Princess, who received her license in 1947, has limited her driving to Londons private parks. But the makers of the new Rolls have installed a driving seat that can be adjusted for height and distance—a feature the big cars usually do not have. There is also an automatic gear shift to make the car easier to handle in traffic.

The custom-built Phantom IV model also has a glass roof that can be covered and a collapsible staff on the roof for Margaret's personal standard.

Farmer Charged With Killing Wife, Child

Judge Recommends Medical Examination Before Creston Man Goes to Trial

CRESTON, B.C. (CP)—Fred Allan Huscroft, cattle farmer from nearby Lister, was committed for trial here Wednesday on a charge of murdering his wife.

Magistrate Guy Constable recommended that Huscroft be sent to Vancouver's Oakalla prison for a psychiatrist's examination before the trial begins.

His wife Agnes Louise and their five-year-old adopted daughter were found dead in their beds May 24 by RCMP after Huscroft reported slaying them.

"My wife and daughter are gone now. I don't know why I did it," the soft-voiced farmer said.

"I can't make an excuse for it. I am absolutely guilty."

He refused defense counsel and did not cross-examine witnesses when invited to do so.

New Anglican Church for View Royal

A new Anglican church will be built in View Royal at a cost of approximately $20,000. The building will be at the intersection of Pallisier and Stewart Avenues.

Three bids were received and one by L. A. D'Arcy of $21,887 was accepted. Donations by parishioners of lumber or cement will be deducted from this amount.

Exterior of the church will be painted or stained siding while the roof will be of split shakes. Architect is J. H. Wilson.

A recent special meeting of the congregation of All Saints' Church struck a Building Fund Drive Committee to solicit donations towards erecting the new structure.

HOTEL MURDER VICTIM — The body of Dorothy Poore, 18, of Clinton, Ind., was found crammed in a dresser drawer in an Indianapolis hotel. Police are hunting a "sweet, pretty-boy type" of man who gave a phony New York address when he checked into the room in which the body was found.

ATOM TO SAVE U.S. INDUSTRY $1 BILLION YEAR

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UP) — Atomic Energy Commissioner Joseph Campbell said Wednesday night that industry is on the "threshold of a new frontier" and eventually will save $1,000,000,000 a year by using atomic energy.

Campbell, in an address at Rutgers University, noted that industrial use of radioisotopes already had resulted in a saving of $100,000,000 a year.

Spain Will Ban Arms Shipments At U.K. Request

LONDON (UP) — Spanish arms shipments to Egypt will be banned by the Madrid government in response to a British request, the Foreign Office announced today.

Britain has made both written and oral requests for such a ban because of fear the arms would be used by Egyptian terrorists against British troops in the Canal Zone. Britain and Egypt have been engaged in delicate and protracted negotiations on withdrawal of those troops.

The British request for the ban was made after reports reached here that Spanish arms manufacturers had signed contracts with the Cairo government for the sale of more than 200,000 shells, 900 machine guns and several hundred mortars.

"THE WILD ONE" (Odeon) —Stanley ("The Sniper") Kramer, whose motion pictures are sometimes based on true-to-life incidents, has a knack of making his fiction tougher than life and in "The Wild One" he excels himself.

Between producer Kramer and the excellent acting of Marlon ("Julius Caesar") Brando and associate screen "toughs," "The Wild One" emerges as about as vicious An example of be-bop, jive, cracking hooliganism as ever portrayed on the screen.

★ ★ ★

ALTHOUGH THE PROLOGUE explains that the film is based on a single incident in a U.S. town, and that the incident is the proverbial exception that proves the rule, and that the picture has been passed by the B.C. board of appeal, it still fails to provide reason enough for the picture to have been made at all. Although it plays up delinquency it offers no remedy or apology and in the end seems to stand for unregenerate brutality.

★ ★ ★

THAT THE ACTING IS OF the highest quality, as is the direction, lighting, background music and camera work, is purely incidental. To this column's way of thinking such pictures do more harm than good. It is better that they should never have been made. Although by implication they purport to show good reason why manners and morals of this order cannot be tolerated, they are bound to encourage those of our society unfortunately bred and addicted to this sort of thing into believing that the characters portrayed are "real cool" and something to emulate.

★ ★ ★

THE PLOT, IN BRIEF: Headed by Brando a group of 30 or 40 wild young ruffians careen into the small, sleepy town of Wrightsville aboard their roaring motorcycles. From that moment until they depart license and hooliganism are rampant. The citizens finally arise in their wrath, especially after the cyclists terrorize young waitress Mary Murphy, scare the daylights out of the weak town sheriff and are reason for the death of an elderly man. Eventually the row brings in the state police—and not too soon.

Much-Improved Singer Heard At Summer School Recital

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

To have a voice and to know how to sing with it; to have temperament and to know what to do with it—those are the principal requirement of the vocal artist. And they are by no means commonly present in equal proportions in the same singer.

Judging by her recent performance at the Summer School, Winona Denyes, who has always impressed with the quality of her soprano voice and her intelligent approach to music, is now in possession of those ideal attributes.

Probably nothing more delightful than her program of modern French songs, given before an appreciative audience of Summer School teachers, will be heard there this season.

Accompanied with exquisite taste by Charles Palmer, she performed songs by — aure, Franck, Debussy, Lalo, Saint-Saens, Duparc and Delibes, showing a genuine interpretive flair for the genre of the French art song. Her pure, beautifully placed and focussed tone has rounded and matured in the past year or so, and her phrasing and breath control are well disciplined although a trace of tremolo appeared here and there.

ATTENTION TO DETAIL

She is a meticulous artist, every musical detail having the attention and the polish too many singers treat with utter casualness. Yet her work is illumined with the light of imagination and so avoids any taint of academic dullness.

In addition, Miss Denyes has an intriguing and charming stage personality which does its share toward creating the mood of the song. One minute detraction; the somewhat restless and not always definitive movement of her hands.

Miss Denyes was wise in her choice of accompanist, for Mr. Palmer is also a musician of rare insight and an exacting musical craftsman, and his performance at the piano was the perfect artistic compliment to her own.

Fresh from Kellogg's

Is that all? Two-fisted little fire engines like this are one of the little reasons why more families ran out of Kellogg's Corn Flakes this morning than any other cereal. The big reason it happens every day is this: Kellogg's Corn Flakes just naturally taste best to more people. Always have. Still do. So naturally, many women pick up a spare package of Kellogg's Corn Flakes every time they buy any cereal of any kind. You too?

To suit every family's need, Kellogg's now offers the new Handi-Pak, too . . . eight handy "personal portion" boxes of Corn Flakes just right for individual servings.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

A horrible bridge crime occurred in today's hand. If you are a good bridge detective you will spot the crime and expose the criminal.

After the bidding shown in the diagram, West opened the king of clubs. Declarer won immediately in the dummy with the ace of clubs and led the queen of diamonds to force out West's ace.

West cashed the ace of spades, getting the discouraging deuce of spades from his partner. West then led the queen of clubs, winning the third defensive trick.

The defense was now finished. Regardless of what West did, declarer could gain the lead, draw all of the trumps, and would then have tricks to burn.

If you have kept your eye in the right direction, you have surely spotted the crime and the criminal. Make this decision for yourself before you read on.

No crime was committed in the play of the cards. West took the only three tricks that the defense could get, and South played the hand competently, making his contract.

The crime took place in the bidding. West can hardly be blamed for overcalling with a bid of two clubs since his hand was exceptionally good. North could and should be blamed, however, for bidding two no trump. He should have doubled two clubs for penalties.

North could confidently expect to win three trump tricks and perhaps two or three tricks in the side suits. These tricks, combined with those that were promised by South's opening bid, would be ample to defeat the contract of two clubs.

Correct defense would have held West to three trump tricks and his two side aces. The penalty would have come to 800 points, far more than the value of the game to North and South.

In a bridge sense, it's a crime to let an opponent get away cheaply with an overcall that should be taken to the cleaners. The biggest scores in bridge come from doubling the opponents at bad contracts, and a player who misses such opportunities to double is a bridge criminal.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

BY BILL PARKER

Misconceptions about television constantly amaze me.

Two visitors were talking to me about TV, its good and bad points, their favorite shows, and in particular, they were asking me about TV in Victoria.

When I mentioned that Victorians can generally receive six stations here (though not all perfectly), one of the pair immediately said: "Montreal and Toronto have strong stations. . . . I guess you get them pretty clearly here."

When I explained that we didn't, the couple shrugged; they didn't seem to understand that TV signals don't carry great distances like radio.

The male of the pair topped it all though when he commented: "It's a pity you can't get them, but then it doesn't really matter; the CBC never has anything worth seeing anyway."

Which appears to me an indication that he never watched Canadian television.

The CBC these days is turning out some shows that are on a par with, or are better, than many American programs.

For that matter, CBUT, Vancouver (and no doubt eastern TV stations as well), carry many productions which originate south of the border.

On the few occasions when I'm able to watch Vancouver, I personally find it most enjoyable. How about you?

Music lovers who can't get out to Butchart Gardens tonight had better turn their radios to CBU at 9 and hear the Vancouver String Orchestra under Jean de Rimanoczy.

The popular group will perform works by Bach with guest soloists Thomas Rolston and Lea Foll featured in the great composer's "Double Concerto for Two Violins."

HIGHLIGHTS FOR TONIGHT

ON CBU:
Promenade Concert at 6.
Vancouver Concert at 9.
Winnipeg Drama at 10.30.

ON CBUT:
Almanac at 7.15.
CBC Sports Manual at 7.45.
Kraft TV Theatre at 9.30.

These program listings are as supplied by the stations themselves and The Times is not responsible for last minute changes or other alterations. Pacific Daylight Time.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

FRIDAY, JULY 23, 1954

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) — Keeping busily engaged in whatever your own line of vocational activity happens to be, whether in the home or outer world, finds you accomplishing worthwhile results now.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — Now you have a beautiful day for getting essential chores quickly behind you, thus freeing one of your best evenings in long while for entertainment, romance and a good time generally.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Working behind the scenes to secure more peace, harmony, wellbeing at home also opens better ways to have the little, but important, affairs of everyday life handled with intelligence.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) — Now you have fixed, determined support from staunch ally who will help you to bring to successful fruition whatever is in your heart, mind to achieve. Go after all aims forcefully, brilliantly.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Getting together with formal as well as unconventional persons, very expert in their own fields, to find new ways to impress all in authority with your best points brings you great renown quickly, and lastingly.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Try to get away for a while on jaunt with ardent admirers, sensible supporters where you can discuss future plans, get added information needed in your joint, expanding horizons. Be very active.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Even though there are aspects you do not like, understand, agree with, make point to contact all who have any influence. Let them in on your worldly, emotional, financial goals to help you as they think best.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Contact all colleagues, associates, partners, opponents; give them the inspired new ideas that have recently become part of your thinking. Accept and think over theirs, unknown to you before, as well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Deep satisfactions come from doing your job well whatever it is, and this requires that you study modern methods for lopping off hours, thus saving time, expense. P.M. fine for romance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Don't neglect duties, but spend as much time in between, during day, as possible to arrange plans for having rip-snorting good time tonight, when aspects favor happiness, joy, for you. Be happy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Now you can really put in effect those unusual, unique, progressive policies, methods at which you are so adept but about which delays have somewhat frustrated you. P.M., enjoy family delights.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Getting off with neighbors, relatives, co-workers, etc., in jaunts, trips, expeditions of all types renders most interesting day; fine also for business, reports, but be sure you lighten them with touch of humor.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN FRIDAY . . .

Friday's child is one of those very unusual progenies that will have a most interesting idea of modernizing whatever he or she comes in contact with, and who also will have a fine sense, both of emotional matters as well as the best ways to merchandise products that the general public will like and enjoy. There is also present in the make-up some artistic ability, so try to give some courses in education in these various outlets to bring your offspring's full talents into being.

LIONS SELL WITCHES

Needle-Threading Gadgets Aid Men Sewers; City Club

By AB KENT

Look out ladies—the men folk threaten to tackle your sewing problems with a fascinating little machine that threads needles with the touch of a finger. No squinting, no thread trimming and no untoward cursing.

Heavy-handed clods who normally have difficulty getting thread through a sailmaker's needle, have discovered the "Witch," which threads the finest eye in five seconds.

So far, men have proved to be the best customers of the midget marvel, an odd-looking gimmick made of plastic, and turned out by a West German factory.

Whether this proves that men have a secret desire to sew, or that the mechanical aspect of the Witch intrigues them will not be known until reports from the women are heard.

Salesmen are members of Victoria Lions, who have exclusive franchise for threaders in this area. One member reports that all but two of his original stock of five dozen were sold to men.

Still, one local woman was so anxious to buy a threader that she paid $5 for it—five times the price asked by the Lions.

Operation of the Witch is so simple a pine tree could almost thread its own needles. The user simply drops a needle (sizes three to seven accommodated), eye-first into a hole at the top of the machine, and passes a length of thread through a slot.

When a small lever at the base is depressed, the needle is automatically threaded and ready for use.

And for two-ply stitching, one simply passes a double length of thread into the slot.

Simple? A boom in sewing circle circles is expected on sheer strength of novelty.

New Sport Coat His Reward for 50-Year Record

Recognition of 50 years' service in the electrical appliance business was made local dealer Earl Jarvis when he was presented with a sport coat on behalf of Victoria Electric Club members at their annual banquet Wednesday in Chez Marcel.

Ceremony was conducted by James Roberts, president of Victoria Electric Club, who praised the contribution made by Jarvis to the electrical trade, mostly in Victoria.

Among the 90 members present were E. W. Arnott, B.C. Electric vice-president for Vancouver Island, and T. H. Crosby of B.C. Power Commission. Many lower Island electrical and appliance dealers were in attendance.

During the afternoon, the club's golf tournament was played at Colwood, with A. E. Anderson low net winner of all flights. He won the Victoria Electric perpetual rose bowl trophy.

Bill Morgan was winner of the low gross prize for all flights, and Hugo Allan was "A" flight winner.

Langford Talent Show Rehearsal Set for Tuesday

LANGFORD — A rehearsal for the talent show planned in connection with the Langford Fair, July 30 and 31, will be held in the Community Hall next Tuesday.

Participants who have not filed registration forms will have a final chance to turn them in during the rehearsal. It will be open to young people of both Victoria and Langford districts.

A pianist has been engaged for those needing accompaniment, and Alan Newberry, master of ceremonies, will be on hand to assist in arranging the program.

Children will compete according to age, and winners will be chosen by audience voting. Cash prizes will be awarded to the winners.

The show, sponsored by the women's auxiliary to Langford Volunteer Fire Department, will be under the direction of Mrs. G. R. Le Quesne, Mrs. R. Limer, and Mrs. T. Thorpe.

Saskatchewan Hotel Destroyed By Fire

DISLEY, Sask. (BUP)—Damage in a fire believed started by lightning, which destroyed this town's only hotel, was estimated at $50,000 today.

No one was injured in the blaze which swept the two-story stone structure Wednesday. Only a few people were in the building at the time, owner Lawrence Dupont reported.

Saanich Sprouts Learn All About New Fire Engine

More than 200 children turned out Wednesday night at Rudd Park to see a Saanich fire department service truck demonstrated.

They were given a talk by Lieut. John Mortimer, who was assisted by firemen Joe Robbins, popular soccer star, and Shamrocks' player Tommy Druce.

During the afternoon, fire equipment was demonstrated at Meadow, Hampton and Qu'Appelle Parks, and Saanich police patrol wagon visited Majestic and Broadmead Parks, with Constable Leslie Ledson in charge.

A feature at Hampton Park was a short address to children by Fire Chief Joseph Law, made over the service trucks two-way radio from the chief's office.

Parks officials have praised instructional work being done by both police and fire departments on Saanich playgrounds.

Good Time to Divide Flowering Perennials

July is a lush month in the garden, an abundant month for flowers, berry fruits, and vegetables.

In the midst of this abundance it is well to look to the future. We notice that the early flowering perennials are becoming crowded. Division will improve the quality of their flowers, and make for healthier plants. Space for the divisions may be provided by removing from the border the biennials which have finished. It is well to get some of this dividing done now before the fall with its more uncertain weather.

The new plants will soon become established if planted into moist soil which is not allowed to dry out.

The first plant to gain our attention is the Doronicum, or leopard's bane, the large yellow daisy with long stems which blooms with the daffodils. This plant frequently becomes so matted that it produces few or no blooms. Division every third year will prevent this.

Pyrethrum, or painted daisy, is another of the daisy type plants which is best divided and replanted at this time. If done late in the fall, the plants are liable to rot before they root, especially in a heavy soil.

A brilliant showy contribution of late May is Lychnis viscaria, the sticky Lychnis or German catchfly. The double form is attractive, though the vibrant rose color requires care in its placing. Dividing large plants now will ensure a blaze in the spring garden picture when strong colors are not too abundant.

Another treasure of the early perennial garden is Geranium; and I do mean Geranium, the hardy herbaceous perennial with the violet-blue flowers in early June. Somewhat sprawling in habit, it is worth a place in any informal garden.

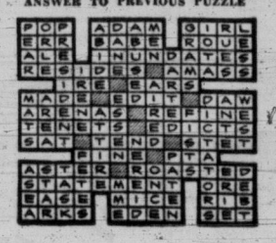
ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE



U.S. Will Now Strip Reds Of Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives approved by voice vote Wednesday President Eisenhower's proposal to strip U.S. citizenship from any American convicted of seeking or teaching the overthrow of the government by violence.

This measure, which now goes to the Senate, was one of several broad powers requested by Attorney-General Herbert Brownell to combat subversion. In this field Wednesday there were these other developments:

1. The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill making bail-jumping in cases involving a federal offense a separate crime. This legislation grew out of a recent case of bail jumping by four of 11 Communist leaders convicted in New York of conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the government.

2. A House judiciary subcommittee approved a bill to outlaw the Communist party and similar organizations. It would make membership in such groups a felony. The measure now goes to the full committee.

With congress planning to adjourn July 31 and in the face of objections by some congressmen to each proposal, the whole program faced an uncertain future.

GOOD NEWS: Dr. Kenneth Small manages a grin after a jury at Allegan, Mich., returned a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity. He had been charged with first degree murder in the slaying of his wife's suitor, Jules Lack. According to testimony Mrs. Small said she loved Lack and his children "were nicer than ours."

DEFY VANCOUVER BY-LAW

30 Stores Face Charges Of Opening on Wednesday

VANCOUVER (CP)—At least 30 retailers here face prosecution for doing business Wednesday.

Although it was the city's first "open Wednesday" since 1942, license inspector Art Moore said not all classes of retailers had petitioned for permission to open all week.

Abolition of mid-week closing was approved in a plebiscite last month.

Maximum penalty under the Provincial Shops Regulation Act is $10 for the first offense, $25 for the second and $50 for the third.

Leader of the minor revolt was downtown butcher Bert Robinson.

He said he would keep both his shops open all day Wednesdays unless "forcibly lugged off to jail."

Although he's been told he will get a summons, Robinson said, "I've done more business than I usually do on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday."

Meat counters in department stores are allowed to do business under the new by-laws. Robinson maintains that as he is competing with them, he would lose customers if he did not open.

Tourist Bureau Expands Service

The Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau is now open from 8.15 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily during the week and from 9.15 to 6 p.m. Sundays and holidays.

The extension of hours was arranged to handle an increasing tourist inquiry flow, now averaging about 700 daily.

Previously the bureau had been open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and remained shut over holidays.

The bureau has arranged to have visitors leaving the city with cars for mainland points met at the boats by a bureau member with sizeable bumper stickers. These stickers, free of charge, advise tourists to "follow the birds to Victoria."

Suicide Pact of Teen-Age Girls Sees One Dead, One Near Death

NEW YORK (AP) — Two 'teen-aged girls took gas together Wednesday apparently aflame with wine and bewitched into a childishly romantic suicide pact. One died, the other is near death.

"I die simply enough, because I haven't enough life within me to nourish myself through long, long years," read a note left by the surviving girl, Helene Jacobs, 18, a Columbia University summer school student and daughter of a Chicago labor lawyer. She is a pretty brunette.

The dead girl was Madeline Jean Sommer, 19, missing for a week from her Bergenfield, N.J., home. A blonde, she was equally pretty and well formed.

NO CLUE

There was no immediate clue as to how the girls happened to rendezvous for death in a combination art gallery and apartment where Miss Jacobs had been staying only briefly.

The girls were clad in short, filmy nightgowns. An empty half gallon jug of sauterne and a half empty bottle of sherry were found in the apartment on fashionable East 65th Street just off Fifth Avenue. Evidence of considerable wine was found in Miss Sommer's body.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sports writer Grantland Rice left an estate of more than $30,500, most of it willed to his widow and daughter. Terms of his will were made public during the filing of a probate application in surrogate's court, Wednesday.

VOL. 121, No. 171 * VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, JULY 22, 1954—24 PAGES PRICE: 7 CENTS SATURDAY, 10 CENTS

Florence Chadwick's Day

Hi! The holiday, a whole week of it, ended abruptly today.

After a week out of the water, I got back into the training routine today and it felt wonderful. I swam around Cadboro Bay, with Archie McKinnon and Jack Todd in the coaching boat, for an hour and a half.

But, as glad as I was to get back to my swimming, I certainly enjoyed my week-long holiday. I saw a lot more of Victoria and met dozens of people. More and more, I am becoming convinced that Victoria is one of the garden spots of the world.

* * *

One of the most enjoyable parts of my entire stay in Victoria was a visit to the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Pendray last Sunday. Mom Chadwick and I had dinner with the Carl Pendray family first and I had my introduction to Devonshire cream. Mr. Pendray buttered huge slices of bread for me, and covered them with strawberry preserves and Devonshire cream.

After dinner, we visited the home of Herb Pendrays and I have never seen a home with such beautiful grounds. The whole estate looks like something out of Alice in Wonderland with birds all over the place and little stone gnomes and elves in the garden and trees. The house is full of souvenirs from all over the world and I was fascinated by the collection of animal skins and sea-shells.

* * *

On Tuesday night, Archie and Dottie McKinnon and I drove along the waterfront, looking for possible take-off sites. Of course the final decision will be made by my navigator, Frank Seehorn.

I took my Oldsmobile into Wilson Motors and had it washed and while I was there, I met a lot of the staff. Being a fiend for flashy cars, I had a wonderful talk with the mechanics and salesmen. They sure know their business.

The Chadwick pantry has been bulging with gifts and I would like to thank Andy Roubillard for the delicious smoked salmon and the Goldstream Strawberry Farm for the juicy berries they sent us.

Canadian Beauty Favored

One of the top choices for the title of "Miss Universe" is Canada's entry, Joyce Landry of Toronto. Event scheduled Friday at Long Beach, Calif., will bring together beauties from many nations. In addition to the title the winner will be given a Hollywood screen test.

SOME (GASP) MOUNTIE!

Miss Redcoat Invited To Pick Her Own Man

LONG BEACH, Calif. (CP) —Miss Canada may or may not win the Miss Universe beauty contest title, but she is regarded as champion when it comes to filling out what in tolerant Southern California is regarded as a "national dress."

While other foreign beauties have appeared in such outlandish garb as a New Zealand Maori costume, 20-year-old Joyce Landry of Toronto has put the most showmanship into her outfit.

Shapely Joyce has worn a brief red coat patterned after the tunic of the Canadian Mounties, and — blithely unaware of the shudders it will cause at RCMP headquarters in Ottawa — rounded out the outfit with a pair of long black silk stockings.

The get-up won hands down for cheese cake.

For the second straight night Wednesday night her costume brought out more wolf whistles than any other at the contest. One sailor brought down the house when he shouted: "Hey, Mountie, I'm your man—come and get me."

Joyce, a smiling beauty, is rated among favorites to win the Miss Universe crown. The finals are scheduled for Friday night. She'll compete against Miss South Carolina, who Wednesday night won the United States eliminations, and a host of beauties from all over the world.

Posse Hunts Deadly Snake In Vancouver

3½-Foot Rattler Seen By Housewife

VANCOUVER (CP)—Search was resumed early today for a 3½-foot diamond-backed rattlesnake which was seen in Vancouver's West End district Wednesday evening.

A posse of nearly 100 police, firemen and private citizens was forced to postpone the search for the poisonous reptile Wednesday night by darkness.

The big green-tinged snake with a black diamond pattern on its back was first spotted by a West End housewife when she investigated a noise near some garbage cans at the rear of her apartment.

FOUND TRAIL

Mrs. A. Milne told police she saw the big snake slithering between the cans, "waving its tail and making a rattling sound." Investigating officers Doug Barclay and Bill Reid said they found the snake's trail, which ended at a concrete walk.

A few minutes earlier, two passers-by reported seeing the snake.

Indo-China Truce Line

Division of Viet Nam as agreed upon with the signing of the Indo-China peace agreement at Geneva is shown in the above map. France has agreed to surrender to the Reds all territory above the 17th parallel, embracing key cities of Hanoi and Haiphong. French are now faced with evacuation of thousands of civilians and troops.

Seeks Assurances Against Use of Veto

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada will accept membership on the Indo-China armistice commission if it gets reasonable assurance that the commission can be made to work effectively, External Affairs Minister Pearson said today.

"A final decision cannot be taken until we get the information requested," he told a press conference following a cabinet meeting which discussed an invitation that Canada serve on the commission.

"If that information and the terms of reference and procedure and details are all such as to give us reasonable assurance that the commission can operate effectively and do the job it is set up to do, I think the government will accept it."

The invitation for Canada to serve on the truce body with India and Poland was received Wednesday night from British Foreign Secretary Eden and Russian Foreign Minister Molotov, co-chairmen of the Geneva conference.

However, the invitation did not contain details on the commission such as its terms of reference and what exactly it will be expected to do.

Until these details are received, there can be no final decision by the Canadian government, Mr. Pearson said. They are expected in a day or two and the cabinet probably will make its final decision next week.

Enforcement Not Involved

The minister said he assumes that the commission's work will not involve enforcement of the armistice terms.

If the commission had to decide all questions by unanimous decision, then there was not much likelihood of the commission operating effectively, he said.

In short, Canada might turn down the request to serve on the commission if Communist Poland could veto majority decisions by India and Canada.

If Canada took on the job, it would probably last at least two years.

Mr. Pearson said he does not know whether the commission staff will be military or civilian or how many persons will be involved. He said he would guess that there might be between 100 and 200 representatives from each of the three supervisory powers.

He said he hopes that if Canada accepts membership, it will be considered in the U.S. that Canadian intentions are good and worthy and that Canada will act in an objective and effective way.

If Canada turns down membership, Mr. Pearson said he assumes the foreign ministers of countries represented at Geneva will ask some other country to serve.

Canadian participation would not affect Canada's relations with any Southeast Asia pact one way or the other. It would also remove any lingering impression that Canada is not concerned with what happens in Indo-China, Mr. Pearson said.

Canada has said that under present circumstances it cannot join any Southeast Asia defense alliance because its commitments aboard are already heavy.

Fighting Stops Officially July 27

GENEVA (Reuters)—Fighting will stop officially in Indo-China July 27 when the cease-fire negotiated here goes into effect in some areas of north Viet Nam, French sources said today. Full details are still secret.

Asia Conference Agreed Upon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S., Britain and other allies have agreed to call an international conference late next month to write a defensive alliance designed to protect the non-Communist lands of Southeast Asia against Communist conquest.

Highly placed diplomatic authorities said an announcement of the meeting is expected shortly.

Pravda Says U.S. Policy Bankrupt

MOSCOW (UP)—Pravda, the communist party newspaper, said today that the Indo-China cease-fire agreement showed that American foreign policy is "bankrupt" and will lead up a blind alley to eventual ioslation of the United States.

A three-column front page editorial hailed the Indo-China settlement at Geneva as a "victory consistent with the peaceful foreign policy of the Soviet Union and the Chinese People's Republic and the entire democratic camp."

Geneva was a "failure" for U.S. foreign policy, Pravda said.

"Now it is entirely clear . . . to all that in insisting on conducting a bankrupt policy 'from a position of strength' the United States may completely find itself up a blind alley and in a state of isolation," the editorial said.

Laos Invaders Begin Withdrawal

HANOI, Indo-China (UP)—Communist invaders of Laos today began withdrawing from the Indo-Chinese kingdom.

Fighting is already virtually over in Indo-China, although minor skirmishing may take place in remote districts until the Aug. 6 deadline, military sources said.

The French high command announced, meanwhile, that it would evacuate "several hundred thousand" Vietnamese from the Red River delta at French expense.

WIRE BRIEFS

Blast Kills Three

CRANBURY, N.J. (AP)—State police said at least three persons were killed and three seriously injured in an explosion and fire at the Unexcelled Chemical Co. fireworks plant today.

At least eight persons were treated at the scene.

The blast, heard two miles away and followed by a mushroom - shaped white cloud, blew up a 20-by-60-foot galvanized iron building and knocked another smaller structure off its foundation.

The victims were believed to have been working in the wrecked building.

ROK Reaction

SEOUL (Reuters) — The South Korean defense minister, Admiral Sohn Won Il, said here today the Indo-China cease-fire "gravely increased the danger of a new Communist invasion of South Korea."

He told a press conference South Korea will not sit idle waiting for the Communists to attack first. He said: "Any nation which takes the initiative is winner.'

Duncan Man Charged In Wife Shooting

Manslaughter Count Facing Farmer; Dead Woman Former Victorian

DUNCAN—Henry Robinson, 61-year-old Cowichan Lake Road farmer, was charged with manslaughter today by the RCMP in connection with the gunshot death Wednesday of his wife.

He was scheduled to appear before Magistrate W. H. Bryant in police court this afternoon, when, it was understood, he would be remanded to a later date.

According to reports, Robinson apparently mistook his wife for a deer while she was in their strawberry patch, and shot her with a 30-30 rifle. The strawberries grown on their farm, three miles along the Cowichan Lake Road from the Old Island Highway, was one of the couple's main sources of income.

Mrs. Robinson, 55, formerly Irene McDonald of Victoria, was well known as a school teacher in the Sahtlam district, where the farm is located.

Robinson himself reported the incident, that occurred at about 8.30 p.m. He is in police custody.

The couple had been known in the district for the last 35 or 40 years, and had been married about 25 years.

Robinson, who lived quietly, was a regular competitor in loggers' sports held here years ago. Their property is one of the pioneer farms in the district.

B.C. Awards $1,699,057 Bridge Job

Northern Construction and J. W. Stewart Ltd. today were awarded a $1,699,057 contract for construction of sub-structure and approaches of the Rosedale-Agassiz bridge across the Fraser River.

The bridge will be the first constructed by the B.C. Toll Bridge and Highway Authority. Work will start immediately.

Another contract, for steel work on the approaches, was awarded Dominion Bridge Co., for its tender price of $372,727.

The new bridge is scheduled to be in operation next year, and will replace an expensive and outmoded ferry service. It will provide a new bridge crossing in the area between Hope and Mission.

Tenders will be called at a later date for construction of the main centre span.

The Toll Authority will set tolls on the bridge, and this will be bolstered by a government annual subsidy of 2½% of the original cost. When paid for from these two sources, the foll bridge will revert to the provincial highway system.

A-Power for Industry

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Widespread use of atomic power in Canadian industry is much closer than the public realizes, A. E. Grauer, president of the B.C. Electric Co., said today.

"In about a decade Canadians may be using 1,000,000 electrical horsepower generated from atomic energy."

Closing By-Law May Be Revoked

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bert Robinson, downtown butcher who kept his two stores open Wednesday afternoon in defiance of the Wednesday closing by-law, will be summonsed under the provincial Shops Regulation Act the city inspector said here today. Twenty-nine other store owners will also be summonsed.

At the same time it was learned that the closing by-law may be repealed at a special city council meeting Monday.

Repeal of the by-law would open the door for a 5½-day week for retail stores not yet cleared for six-day operation.

Criticisms May Keep Statue Of Queen Victoria in Ireland

Woodward Stores Ltd., may withdraw its offer to bring Dublin's statue of Queen Victoria to this city.

J. Courtney Haddock, manager of Woodward's store here, said today local reaction to the company's offer has been disappointing and so much adverse criticism made of the statue that "we feel rather cast down."

"If it's not going to be welcome, there seems little point to our bringing it," Mr. Haddock said.

Woodward's offered the statue to the city in a letter to City Council. The council jumped at the offer at a meeting July 8 and appointed a three-man committee to find a suitable place to put it.

It is understood the committee has already given thought to having the Dublin statue erected in front of the Parliament Buildings, and the present statue of the queen moved from there to Beacon Hill Park.

During the last two weeks the statue has been the subject of discussion by newspaper columnists and writers of letters to the editor. Comments have been mostly unfavorable.

"We felt Victoria would be more enthusiastic to our offer," Mr. Haddock said. "Some say the statue is ugly. Maybe it is but personally I think that would make it all the more interesting."

Mr. Haddock said it had been Woodward's intention to bring both the statue and its ornate base to this city.

"We would have brought the whole thing," he said. "We felt it would become one of the sights in Victoria from a tourist point of view."

Mr. Haddock added that Woodward officials were not annoyed at what had been said about the statue "we're just surprised."

SEA TAKES SAD TOLL OF 'FISHING SMITHS'

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Once there were five in the fishing Smith family.

Then in the early 1930s Mrs. Mary Smith's husband was drowned at the family fishing site 60 miles west of Anchorage. His body never was recovered.

The widow, with three sons to rear, continued to go annually to the fishing grounds, superintending operations during the season until the boys were able to take over.

Three years ago one of the three sons, Roland, was drowned at the same spot his father had perished. Last year another son, Byrne, was drowned on a hunting trip.

Gerard, 26, the last of the sons, carried on. Monday his dory, its bow stove in, was found at the spot where his father and brother had died. His body has not been recovered.

Now Mrs. Smith, almost blind, alone remains.

Court Hears Grisly Details Of Gaspe Slayings

PERCE, Que. (BUP)—Seventeen-year-old Richard Lindsay of Hollidaysburg, Pa., was shot to death and his body dismembered and chewed by the black bears of the Gaspe while his own fully-loaded rifle was locked on "safety," a provincial police officer testified today.

Capt. Raoul Sirois testified at the trial of Wilbert Coffin, charged with murdering the American youth.

While the boys mother and sister, Donna, wept, Sirois identified articles of clothing and equipment belonging to Lindsay, his father Eugene, 47, and a companion, Fred Claar, 20, of East Freedom, Pa.

Sirois identified the Lindsay boys boots which were badly chewed by bears.

"There was still the large bone of the leg in one of those boots," he said.

25½-Hour Filibuster Continues; Talkathon May Go On 'For Days'

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind., Ore.) surrendered the Senate floor today after speaking 6 hours and 13 minutes in a 25½-hour filibuster on the Atomic Energy Bill.

The debate started at 10 a.m. EDT Tuesday.

Morse frankly admitted he was making a "filibuster" speech against President Eisenhower's proposal that a private power group be given an Atomic Energy Commission contract to supply power to TVA.

Democratic and Republican senators slept in their cloakrooms on army-type cots provided by Senate GOP leader William F. Knowland (Cal.), who ordered the marathon session. Knowland, too, called it a filibuster.

Morse charged that the Atomic Energy Bill was a "$42,000,000,000,000 give-away."

He based his estimate on "the enormity of the give-away" on estimates of the power potential involved in the peaceful use of the atom.

"The give-away to private monopoly contemplated by this bill is equivalent to 16 times the assured reserves and six times the ultimately possible reserves of all the coal, oil, shale and natural gas reserves of the country put together," Morse said.

"If we take the price of $7 per ton, this give-away would ultimately stack up some astronomical figure like $42 trillion or in ordinary language $42 million-million," Morse said.

It appeared likely the Senate would drone on longer than the 29 hours used in the fight over the tidelands oil bill last year, but would fall short of the 54-hour record set in 1915.

Knowland said he would keep the chamber in continuous session until the controversial measure is passed.

AUSTRALIANS BREAK 3 CANADIAN RECORDS

ALDERGROVE, B.C. (CP)—Australian, Canadian and Fijian athletes ran a preview of the British Empire Games here Wednesday night and it was Australia all the way.

A chilled crowd of 1,500 saw Hector Hogan of Australia equal a 32-year-old 50-yard Canadian sprint record while running across a bush-league dirt track. His time was 5.4.

Australia's Marjorie Jackson Nelson, Hogan's counterpart as the fastest woman in the world, smashed the Canadian 50-yard sprint record, timed at 5.9 seconds.

Jackie MacDonald of Toronto, tossed a 42 feet, 8.75 inches Canadian shot-put record, the fifth time in the last month she has broken her old mark.

Driver of the other car, which was lightly damaged, was James Brierlie, 127 Bushby.

Vancouver Rattler, 3 Garter Snakes

VANCOUVER (CP)—The hair-raising hunt for a diamond-back rattler ended here today when the reptile turned out to be three other snakes.

The uproar started Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Robert Milne, mother of two young children, opened her back door and came face to face with what she thought was a five-foot rattlesnake, and the alarm was raised.

Today, Hugo de Vries, a dental technician and amateur herpatologist, cleared up the mystery: The snake was actually three snakes—harmless garter snakes he had brought home from Stanley Park. (See story, page 22.)

Strike Threat Faces Canada Ford

WINDSOR, Ont. (BUP)—The United Auto Workers' Union (CIO), its demands for a 30-cent-an-hour raise rejected by a conciliation board, called on Ford of Canada today to resume negotiations in an invitation that contained an apparent threat of a strike.

The dispute, if it led to a strike, could idle 10,000 men. Another 6,000 at Chrysler of Canada faced a shutdown because of a separate dispute at the parent plant in the United States.

Charges South Africa 'Police State'

LONDON (Reuters)—Canon John Collins of St. Paul's Cathedral said today South Africa is virtually a "police state" which could threaten world peace.

The Anglican leader, an outspoken foe of Prime Minister Daniel Malan's racial segregation policy, addressed a press conference upon his return from a seven-week visit to South Africa.

Two Winnipeg Brothers Drowned

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two brothers playing in a boat which was tied to the shore were drowned today when one of them lost his balance and fell into the Assiniboine River and the other jumped into the water in an attempt to save him.

Police said 14-year-old Ted Thrasher dived into the river, high and treacherous from recent flooding, after his seven-year-old brother David tumbled from the boat.

Victoria Girl In Golf Final

Dorothy Herbertson of Victoria today advanced to the finals of the British Columbia women's closed golf championship by defeating Mrs. Helen Cleat of Point Grey at Shaughnessy Golf Club, Vancouver.

The attractive auburn-haired starlet of Gorge Vale and Colwood clubs was so thrilled with her victory that she immediately phoned home.

And she was probably excited too for her message failed to include the score of her match with Mrs. Cleat, long one of the province's top ranking players.

"I won; I'm in the finals, and I shot a 79 today," is the way Dot's relayed message reached The Times.

Miss Herbertson meets tournament medalist Ruth Wilson Friday in a 36-hole final and victory for the 19-year-old shotmaker would mean a double triumph.

In Monday's qualifying round Miss Herbertson won the B.C. junior title, which event is played in conjunction with the medal test. Miss Herbertson was also junior titlist last year.

Seeks Assurances Against Veto Before Final Decision to Act

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada will accept membership on the Indo-China armistice commission if it gets reasonable assurance that the commission can be made to work effectively, External Affairs Minister Pearson said today.

Branca, 28-year-old right-hander, was released by Detroit Tigers last week after he had failed to finish a single start this season. Boat With 'Wings' Canada's New Arm

HALIFAX (CP)—The designers of Canada's small, fast and deadly anti-submarine fleet trotted out a true Mighty Mouse today in the form of a boat that "flies" and could hurl torpedoes at an enemy ship while doing 70 knots.

The top secret craft looks like a flying saucer flying too low and has prompted a buzz of wonderment among people who live around the shore of Bedford basin north of Halifax harbor where defense research scientists have been testing their astonishing brain-child for months.

The 40-foot test craft is equipped with hydrofoils—winglike sheets of metal sticking out from the side of the vessel. When the Rolls-Royce Merlin aircraft engine guns the boat to the right speed, the hull lifts out of the water altogether and the whole contraption whizzes along on the hydrofoils.

The hydrofoil theory is not new and experiments in its applications have been conducted since the turn of the century.

There also is speculation that the principle may one day be put to use on larger warships.

Manslaughter Count Facing Farmer, 61

DUNCAN—Henry Robinson, 61-year-old Cowichan Lake Road farmer, was charged with manslaughter today by the RCMP in connection with the gunshot death Wednesday of his wife.

He was scheduled to appear before Magistrate W. H. Bryant in police court this afternoon, when, it was understood, he would be remanded to a later date.

According to reports, Robinson apparently mistook his wife for a deer while she was in their strawberry patch, and shot her with a 30-30 rifle. The strawberries grown on their farm, three miles along the Cowichan Lake Road from the Old Island Highway, were one of the couple's main sources of income.

Mrs. Robinson, 55, formerly Irene McDonald of Victoria, was well known as a school teacher in the Sahtlam district, where the farm is located.

Robinson himself reported the incident, that occurred at about 8.30 p.m. He is in police custody.

The couple had been known in the district for the last 35 or 40 years, and had been married about 25 years.

Robinson, who lived quietly, was a regular competitor in loggers' sports held here years ago. Their property is one of the pioneer farms in the district.

BCPC Officers Talk With U.S. On Power Dam

SEATTLE (AP) — Canadian and American power officials conferred here today on plans for a $300,000,000 Canadian power development to provide electricity for the Puget Sound area of Washington State.

Representatives of the Puget Sound Utilities Council and Harold Crosby, chairman of the British Columbia Power Commission, discussed the construction of a mammoth dam at Mica Creek on the Upper Columbia River, 300 miles north of Vancouver.

The dam would impound about 10,500,000 acre-feet of water, approximately double the capacity provided by Washington's Grand Coulee Dam. The water would be stored during the summer and released in the winter, when normal Columbia River flow provides just enough energy to keep up with industrial users.

Crosby already has discussed the plan with members of the British Columbia Power Commission and with Robert E. Sommers, B.C. minister of lands.

Unofficial sources have said American interests would have to pay most of the dam's costs.

Vancouver's Closing By-Law May Be Revoked

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bert Robinson, downtown butcher who kept his two stores open Wednesday afternoon in defiance of the Wednesday closing by-law, will be summonsed under the provincial Shops Regulation Act the city inspector said here today. Twenty-nine other store owners will also be summonsed.

At the same time it was learned that the closing by-law may be repealed at a special city council meeting Monday.

Repeal of the by-law would open the door for a 5½-day week for retail stores not yet cleared for six-day operation.

AUSTRALIANS BREAK 3 CANADIAN RECORDS

ALDERGROVE, B.C. (CP)—Australian, Canadian and Fijian athletes ran a preview of the British Empire Games here Wednesday night and it was Australia all the way.

A chilled crowd of 1,500 saw Hector Hogan of Australia equal a 32-year-old 50-yard Canadian sprint record while running across a bush-league dirt track. His time was 5.4.

Australia's Marjorie Jackson Nelson, Hogan's counterpart as the fastest woman in the world, smashed the Canadian 50-yard sprint record, timed at 5.9 seconds.

Jackie MacDonald of Toronto, tossed a 42 feet, 8.75 inches Canadian shot-put record, the fifth time in the last month she has broken her old mark.

Criticisms May Keep Statue Of Queen Victoria in Ireland

Woodward Stores Ltd., may withdraw its offer to bring Dublin's statue of Queen Victoria to this city.

J. Courtney Haddock, manager of Woodward's store here, said today local reaction to the company's offer has been disappointing and so much adverse criticism made of the statue that "we feel rather cast down."

"If it's not going to be welcome, there seems little point to our bringing it," Mr. Haddock said.

Woodward's offered the statue to the city in a letter to City Council. The council jumped at the offer at a meeting July 8 and appointed a three-man committee to find a suitable place to put it.

It is understood the committee has already given thought to having the Dublin statue erected in front of the Parliament Buildings, and the present statue of the queen moved from there to Beacon Hill Park.

During the last two weeks the statue has been the subject of discussion by newspaper columnists and writers of letters to the editor. Comments have been mostly unfavorable.

"We felt Victoria would be more enthusiastic to our offer," Mr. Haddock said. "Some say the statue is ugly. Maybe it is but personally I think that would make it all the more interesting."

Mr. Haddock said it had been Woodward's intention to bring both the statue and its ornate base to this city.

"We would have brought the whole thing," he said. "We felt it would become one of the sights in Victoria from a tourist point of view."

Mr. Haddock added that Woodward officials were not annoyed at what had been said about the statue "we're just surprised."
